Ex-Tam Valleyan Killed In Smashup On 101 Near Gilroy

A former Tamalpais Valley man was killed yesterday evening when the car he was driving and a truck-trailer collided on Highway 101 1½ miles south of Gilroy in Santa Clara County.

The Santa Clara County Coroner's office identified the victim as Rex Monroe Fiedler, 45, an architectural designer for F. W. Woolworth Co., formerly of 309 Starling court, Tamalpais Valley.

A coroner's spokesman said Fiedler was killed when his northbound car rammed the rear of a truck that was making a left turn at about 7 p.m.

The office said Fiedler and his wife, Bette, had been living at a Redwood City trailer court since last November.

The body was taken to the Habing Mortuary at Gilroy where an attendant said members of the family were due to arrive and make funeral arrangements.

The coroner's office said Fiedler is believed to be survived by his mother and sister of Sausalito, but neither the coroner's office nor the mortuary could confirm this.

Legislature Over; Labor Bill Rejected

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Legislature has ended what Gov. Edmund G. Brown saluted as the "finest and most productive session" in state history.

What was also the longest session came to a close at midnight yesterday—to the boom of firecrackers — with defeat for Brown's labor reform bill.

HE DIDN'T KICK

But the new Democratic governor, noting success for 90 per cent of his program, didn't kick about the overall accomplishments in his freshman year.

Backed by the first Democratic majority in both houses since 1889, the Brown administration compiled an impressive record in the 166 days of lawmaking.

Brown got through a 1¾ billion dollar water plan . . . 220 million in new taxes . . . increased jobless benefits . . . higher pensions for blind and aged . . . repeal of cross-filing . . . the state's Fair Employment Practices Act.

LONG REMEMBERED

"Together, I believe, we have written a record that will be remembered long after we are gone," the chief executive told a cheering Assembly.

But Brown couldn't quite make it, despite the most strenuous efforts, on his bill designed to curb corrupt union practices.

The Assembly battled over the Senate-passed proposal for three tense, perspiring hours. It was a steaming hot day. Tempers of the weary legislators were raw.

VOTE SHIFTS

The vote shifted no less than 24 times as Brown's aides and C. J. Haggerty, veteran executive secretary of the California Labor Federation, applied pressure for and against the bill.

A coalition of pro-labor Democrats and minority Republicans finally killed the measure, 50-29, by sending it back to committee.

Nineteen of the house's 47 Democrats voted against the bill.

Two of the 33 Republicans—Ernest R. Geddes of Claremont and George Crawford of San Diego—stuck with the Democratic governor all the way.

Brown, in a statement, avoided mentioning the Democrats who deserted him. Instead, he

LAST LESSON UNTIL SEPTEMBER—Mrs. Genevieve Myers, fourth grade teacher at Novato's Marion School, and pupils Mary Sturken and Bill Thornton get one final lesson on pronunciation of Spanish during the last day of school this week from custodian Paul Marquez, who believes there is more to his job than pushing a broom. Tomales Priest Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

A Tomales priest, Rev. Francis Sardo, OSJ, temporary pastor at Assumption Church, was fatally injured at 6:30 a.m. Thursday as he was driving from Santa Rosa to conduct early mass at Tomales.

His car went out of control on the narrow, winding dirt Sebastopol road and crashed into an embankment. He was taken to Palm Drive Hospital in Sebastopol, where he died.

Father Sardo had been serving at Tomales since April 29, assisting Rev. Bronius Kaunas, who is replacing Father Aldo Grasso, now in Italy. A native of Italy, Father Sardo had come to the United States in 1949 and was a naturalized American citizen. He leaves a brother in Italy.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the provincial house, Santa Cruz, where he served prior to his Tomales assignment.

Custodian Helps Teach Spanish

By ROBERT K. NEWCOMB

The grandson of a Peruvian revolutionary and a custodian of Novato's Marion School, has been responsible for injecting a spark of life into classroom Spanish during the semester which just ended.

Every school day for the past eight months, Paul Marquez has put aside his brooms and mops for some serious discussion of the Spanish language with fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Genevieve Myers, who knows a good thing when she sees it.

It wasn't long after her class took up the study of conversational Spanish, as presented over educational television station KQED last November, that Mrs. Myers recognized the latent teaching talent of the Peruvian born custodian.

"I had studied French and Latin in college," she recalled, "but when it came to Spanish, I had my problems. It was a matter of a teacher who didn't know how to speak the language trying to teach it to her students."

Some teachers, faced with the same problem, gave up the Spanish lessons, which were aimed at college level students and broadcast twice a week in 20-minute programs.

"I requested Senor Marquez' help," recalls Mrs. Myers, "and from that time on, he helped

Youth Halted After Highway Speed Chase

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth, James Carl Blankership Jr. of 35 Bayview street, was booked early today at the county jail under nine sections of the California Vehicle Code after San Rafael Police chased his car through two stop lights, two stop signs and pursued him at 100 miles an hour north on Highway 101.

Sheriff's Deputy Leo R. Ballard joined the pursuit as the youth's car turned off Highway 101 and drove to the rear of Yankee Trader furniture store. The fleeing car was forced to stop at a Hamilton Air Force barricade.

Other occupants of the car jumped out and disappeared in the underbrush, Deputy Ballard reported. Blankenship, the driver, was turned over to San Rafael Police.

He was charged with speeding (under two sections), reckless driving, unsafe lane changes, failure to stop for police siren and red light, not signaling, failure to stop before entering a highway, ignoring traffic signals, and an attempt to avoid arrest.

Arson Investigated In Tocoloma Fire

The possibility of arson in the burning last night of 25 tons of hay in Tocoloma is being investigated by officials from the Marin County Fire Department. Fire destroyed hay valued at $825 on the ranch of Mrs. Nellie C. McIsaac, according to the fire report.

Four county fire trucks answered the call to the ranch at 11:03 p.m. and were able to confine the blaze to the haystack.

Threatened Carpenter Strike Here Called Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Some 16,000 carpenters of four Bay Area counties have called off their threatened Monday strike.

The indefinite postponement was announced last night, an hour after representatives of seven contractors' associations decided to accept a strike rather than to yield further to the union's demands.

But the two sides still appeared far apart. Union negotiators have asked for more wage talks Tuesday morning. But a spokesman for the contractors declared last night that he saw "no reason for any further negotiations."

The associations have offered a 61½ cent wage hike under a three-year contract. The carpenters of San Francisco, San Mateo, Marin and Alameda counties are asking 73½ cents plus medical and parking fringe benefits.

The contractors have already reached contract agreements with cement masons, laborers and carpenters of 42 other northern counties.

Five San Anselmo Stores Looted By Two Vandals

Pair Escapes Capture After 'Tearing Things Up'

Two suspected vandals early today came close to being caught by a San Anselmo police officer but evaded capture and left in their wake smashed plate glass windows, dumped business papers and the aroused ire of five downtown San Anselmo store proprietors.

The pair took about $170, victims disclosed.

"It looks to me like it's not so much the money they were after but just tearing things up," said Asst. Police Chief Sam N. Serio.

An alarm was telephoned at 4:40 a.m. by Peter J. Guasco, 29, co-owner of San Anselmo Supermarket at 100 Center boulevard.

Guasco, setting up produce displays in the front of the market, heard the sound of shattering glass.

He looked over to the rear of the Ranch House restaurant at 726 San Anselmo avenue. A plate glass window in the rear door had a gapping, jagged hole through the center, about three feet long from top to bottom.

"I saw two men there, one had on a white windbreaker. They stood down by the creek a few minutes. I called the cops. Just as I was talking on the phone the one with the white windbreaker went through the broken window," Guasco said.

Guasco said he was unable to determine the age of the men from where he was standing. Asst. Chief Serio asked if the white "windbreaker" could have been a white dinner jacket. Guasco said it was possible. The second man was in dark clothing, he said.

Police Officer Donald Nelson, accompanied by Guasco, investigated. The officer reached through the broken window and opened the door. Guasco remained outside the store.

While Officer Nelson was checking the restaurant cash register, the man in the white jacket slipped out the rear door of a private dining room and ran around the corner of the building toward San Anselmo

Big Three See New Period Of Red Threats

GENEVA (UPI) — Western diplomats today anticipated a twin-pronged Communist offensive combining new pressure tactics against West Berlin with open threats to force the West into a conference at the summit.

Big Four foreign ministers wound up six weeks of negotiations and headed into a three-week "cooling off" recess today after a six-minute closing session and a final communique whose wording emphasized their failure to reach any kind of common ground.

TEXT OF COMMUNIQUE

The communique said:

"At the conference of foreign ministers in Geneva which began on May 11, 1959, a broad exchange of views took place between the participants on the subject under discussion.

"The ministers are of the opinion that further discussion and negotiations are necessary. The ministers agree to recess and to resume the work of the conference in Geneva on July 13."

Secretary of State Christian Herter lunched with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko before returning to Washington by plane.

British Secretary Selwyn Lloyd also called on Gromyko before departing.

TWIN OBJECTIVES

Western spokesmen indicated Herter and his Western colleagues believe Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev now is intent on frightening the West into consenting to a summit conference through a combination of "missile diplomacy" and threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany backed by the full weight of Russian arms.

FAIR WEATHER PREDICTED FOR NEXT TWO DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fair and warm weather should continue over northern and central California through Monday, the Weather Bureau predicted today.

Warm winds are blowing in over the state at high altitudes from two high pressure centers off the West Coast.

Fresno and Bakersfield reported highs of 104 degrees Friday. Sacramento registered 98. Needles recorded 110.

Parade Paces Day's Activities At Novato Fete

One hundred group and individual entries paraded up Novato's Grant avenue under hot skies this afternoon as the annual Western Weekend neared its climactic hours.

The sound of sixguns and the roar of quarter-midget cars could be heard on the Patterson Ranch where quick-draw contests, racing and judging of the Whiskerino contest were under way.

Tonight's big event—and the last of the day—will be the Frontier Dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Novato Community Clubhouse, sponsored by the Novato Community Club.

Until nearly noon today, a lineup of hungry Weekenders consumed pancakes and sausages at the annual Buckeroo Breakfast at the Anderson Chevrolet lot off Grant avenue.

One of the Weekend's biggest attractions—a Wild West Rodeo—gets under way at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the end of Bugeia lane.

The rodeo will feature bareback riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, bulldogging, team roping and bull riding.

Senate Bars McCarthy Try To Get $5 Million

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

SACRAMENTO—A last minute attempt to have the state cancel a five million dollar debt owed it by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, was blocked in the Senate late yesterday.

Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy attempted to cancel the debt and pay it off from gas tax funds. The five million dollars was borrowed from the state by the district and loaned to the Division of Highways to help pay the cost of improving Waldo Grade.

The attempt was made during the last minute rush when McCarthy amended a bill which originally merely transferred the debt on the state's books from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund to the General Fund.

McCarthy introduced amendments which would have canceled the bridge's debt and paid it from gas tax funds allocated to Northern California.

The amendments passed the Senate with only two or three minor questions from Senators. But in the gallery were staff members of the governor and state departments.

Within an hour, representatives of the governor's office, the Department of Public Works, and the Department of Finance had contacted McCarthy, Senate President Pro Tem Hugh Burns, and Sen. Randolph Collier, chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee. Half a dozen of them called McCarthy into a special meeting. They protested the loss of five million dollars in gas tax funds which would go to north state highways, as well as the fact the bridge district's debt would not be repaid.

McCarthy finally succumbed to pressure and took the Senate floor to ask that the record of the vote on the amendments be expunged.

"I got caught," he told the senators. They expunged their action.

Later the bill transferring the fund was passed without opposition.

Integration Scuttled

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida now has a law which prevents a child from being forced to attend an integrated school.

Gov. Leroy Collins allowed the legislative act to become law Friday. The law permits the transfer of a pupil objecting to integration and if a local school board refuses, the child cannot be compelled under the state's compulsory attendance law to attend racially mixed classes.

6 Negroes Rape Girl, 14

NEW YORK (AP) — Six Negro youths, aged 14 to 17 have been arrested in the Corona, Queens, school yard rape of a 14-year-old white girl. She was attacked three times.

The victim, a pretty blonde eighth grader in the junior high school, was assaulted last night after attending a recreation program at the school. Her name was withheld by police.

Boy Kills Stepdad

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A gangling high school youth stabbed his stepfather last night, then sought unsuccessfully to keep the wounded man alive by breathing into his throat.

Gerald Owen Johnson, 17, said he stabbed Robert Griswold, 46, when the stepfather refused to heed his pleas to stop beating him and his mother. No charges were filed immediately.

The mother, Jewel Fay Griswold, 46, collapsed.

Lama May Leave India

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—The self-exiled Dalai Lama of Tibet said today he would welcome a meeting between Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Premier Chou En-lai of Red China to thresh out a solution to the Tibetan problem.

The fugitive god-king told his first news conference since he arrived in India two months ago that he was undecided about his future but would not stay in India indefinitely.

Queen Off For Canada

ERNEST HARMON AIR FORCE BASE, Nfld. (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II winds up a three-day visit to Newfoundland today by observing a key segment of U.S.-Canadian Air Defense in action.

The Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, scheduled a quick look at jet interceptors, poised to repel any invader from the north, before departing for Quebec on the second leg of their 45-day, 15,000-mile tour of Canada.

During their Newfoundland visit, the royal couple has delighted thousands of Newfoundlanders by mingling with them while participating in a round of dedication ceremonies and tours of industrial establishments.

Russ Give Polio Shots

MOSCOW (UPI)—Prof. Mikhail Chumakov, a Soviet scientist, said last night that four million Russian children have been vaccinated with a live-virus anti-polio serum developed by Dr. Albert Sabin, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Chumakov, director of the Institute for the Study of Polio of the USSR Academy of Medical Scientists, said enough vaccine to protect 12 million persons has been produced in the Soviet Union from Sabin's cultures, the Tass News Agency reported.

Theater Ruins Found

ROME (UPI)—Ruins of a huge amphitheater, second in size only to the Colisseum, have been discovered in Rome.

Art superintendent Giulio Jacopi said yesterday the site of the discovery is near the Basilica of Santa Croce (Holy Cross), an ancient Roman structure where it is said Helene, the mother of Emperor Constantine, gathered relics of the passion of Christ.

The digging thus far indicates that the amphitheater is about 500 yards long and 120 yards wide. The Collosseum in downtown Rome is 200 yards across at its widest part.

Brigitte Leaves Paris

ST. TROPEZ, France (UPI) — Brigitte Bardot and Jacques Charrier returned to this Riviera resort today to resume the vacation they interrupted for a marriage ceremony.

The couple was married in Louveciennes Thursday and spent two days honeymooning in Paris.

They had been vacationing at the actress' villa here before the trip to Louveciennes.

Brigitte's parents, her grandmother and her budding-actress sister Mijanou accompanied her and her husband on the return trip.

'JUST NO SEATS,' SAYS USHER TO FIRST LADY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "Sorry, lady, there's just no seats up here," said the Senate assistant sergeant-at-arms.

So California's First Lady, Mrs. Edmund G. Brown, stood in the rear of the Senate gallery last night.

The embarrassed guard quickly led Mrs. Brown to a seat after someone told him who she was.

"This is the first time I've been here since the inauguration," she told a reporter.

Family Burial For Ethel

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The body of Ethel Barrymore will be placed Monday in a crypt beside her actor brothers John and Lionel. The crypt is in the Calvary Cemetery Mausoleum in Los Angeles.

The famed actress died of a heart ailment Thursday. She would have been 80 Aug. 15.

Recital of the Rosary is tentatively scheduled for 7 p.m. tomorrow and the Requiem Mass for 10 a.m. Monday at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills.

Honor System Fails

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—"There is no legacy like honesty," the sign said.

Below it, on the bulletin board of Pan American College, were tacked dollar bills. A student needing a small loan could take a bill or two, with the understanding it would be repaid as soon as possible.

It all worked fine, officials said, until four nonstudent juveniles dropped in. They cleaned off the board—$27 worth—with no plans for repayment.

Juvenile officers picked up the quartet and turned them over to their parents.

Power Struggle Under Way In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Louisiana state officials squabbled today in what could become a struggle for power.

While they argued over the acting governorship, Gov. Earl Long, described by doctors as a maniac who subconsciously wants to kill himself and his wife, marshalled his forces for a legal battle to get out of the insane asylum.

Long, confined behind bars at the state hospital in Mandeville, La., just a stone's throw from the north shore of Lake Ponchartrain which extends 30 miles south to New Orleans, handpicked a team of attorneys yesterday he hopes will help him overthrow a second court commitment and win freedom from his third mental hospital in three weeks.

Jesse Bankston, state director of institutions, met with Long and announced the 63-year-old governor had asked him to obtain the services of several attorneys.

The unidentified attorneys were expected to meet with Long late today or Monday morning and file a petition for a sanity hearing in the court of District Judge Fred S. LeBlanc in Baton Rouge. LeBlanc is the judge who signed papers allowing deputies to drag Long screaming, cursing and kicking from a state patrol car Thursday and take him to the hospital.

The commitment was at the request of Mrs. Long, who raced and beat her husband to Baton Rouge to sign necessary papers after Long walked out of the Oschner Foundation Clinic in New Orleans following only 20 hours of voluntary treatment.

The political turmoil in Louisiana was snarled further yesterday when Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr., announced he would honor no signature on official state documents other than Long's.

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said Lt. Gov. Lether Frazer was acting governor while Long was confined, but Martin said:

"I shall continue to recognize Earl Long as governor until he declares himself unable to act or until his inability to perform is declared by some official body."

House Passes Bill To Raise National Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the sixth time since President Eisenhower took office in 1953, the House has passed a bill raising the ceiling on the national debt.

This time it is a peacetime top of 295 billion dollars. That was exceeded only by a temporary ceiling of 300 billion dollars during World War II, but the actual debt then was smaller than it is today.

Grumbling House members yesterday sent the booster bill to the Senate by a vote of 255-117. There it is expected to run into further opposition, but to pass in the end.

Heavy House opposition meant protests in both Republican and Democratic parties over increased government borrowing at a time when the budget already is 13 billion dollars in the red.

It's Time To Put The Bite On Litterbugs With Big Teeth

(NOTE: Today's guest editor from the Vancouver, B.C., Sun shows what other areas are doing to eliminate our common foe, the Litterbug.)

It's time to bite the litterbugs with the teeth in Vancouver's bylaws.

And these teeth are sharp. Scattering litter can cost a $100 fine, and costs. Or up to two months' imprisonment "with or without hard labor."

New York has become fed up with dirty citizens. Last week 250 sanitation patrolmen and 1,000 field supervisors took to the streets. Citizens had been warned for seven weeks of what would happen. During the one day's giant sweep the officers nabbed 733 litterbugs and issued summonses.

What the sprawling city of millions did Vancouver must copy. The litterbugs have had it soft.

It's time to use stern measures.

Vancouver has a health educator. He is not a superior grade of policeman. His job is to try to educate citizens through persuasive methods in the meaning of keeping the city clean.

It is the task of the city's police to enforce the laws against litter.

Health educator Michael Palko has been in his job for only two months.

He tells The Sun that going through the records he cannot find that any summonses have been issued against litterbugs. There has been no enforcement. This must change.

The police have clear-cut powers to summon litterbugs under two city bylaws. These are the Street and Traffic Bylaw and a Bylaw to Provide for the Control, Regulation, Protection and Government of Public Parks and Places.

Section 84 of Part 2 of the Street and Traffic Bylaw says: "No person shall deposit upon any street any rubbish, sweepings, paper, handbills, refuse or other discarded materials or things." You can't wriggle out of this—"street" or "highway" means any "way, road, lane, alley, avenue, sidewalk, thoroughfare, drive, bridge, viaduct, square, or open space, which is open to the use of the public as a matter of right, for the purpose of traffic." And "traffic" includes pedestrians.

Violate this and, we repeat, it can cost $100, and costs, or imprisonment.

The parks bylaw is just as tough. Toss your empty bottles, fried potato cartons, ice cream containers, cigaret packages or any other muck on beach, lawn, or woodland ride, in the sea, a pool, stream, or anywhere else in the vicinity and it can cost $100—even a term in jail. Only no one has enforced the law.

And remember, "Every warden, lifeguard, patrolman or watchman employed in the parks . . . shall, while in performance of his duties within the parks, be . . . possessed of all the powers and authority of a police constable."

They are empowered to demand names and addresses, to make arrests if this order is not complied with, and to proceed against litterbugs by summons.

Now let's have some enforcement, if this appeal to all citizens to keep their city clean should fail.

Most of us know the number of vandals is few. But the number of careless people is many. Let the careless be taught, if necessary, with the vandals.

The tourist season is almost here. Tourists will revisit a clean city. The season is almost here for the most dread of disease carriers, the common fly. He thrives on filth.

Care for ourselves and our children should make us keep the city clean. Those who won't see this should be bitten by the law—hard!

Brand New Pennies Aren't Circulating; Courthouse Still Agog Over Blonde

Those brand new pennies that came out recently, looking something like a five-cent piece, don't seem to be circulating much these days.

Maybe they've got a minor defect somewhere in the wording or in the picture of the building, and everyone is hanging on to them. Next time one of the shiny new ones rolls around, we're going to take a close look.

COURTHOUSE ATTACHES and spectators are still agog over the lovely blonde model who slipped out the courtroom this week with a divorce. She charged her husband with being "very, very jealous." Quipped one admiring bystander: "Well, he has a right to be!"

Her name already sounds like a Hollywood star — Lona (pronounced Lahna) Crawford.

IT'S THAT TIME of year again when terms expire on the San Rafael Planning Commission. Chairman Pat Hetherton is one of them. Did you know that he used to be planner for the State of Washington at one time?

Thomas Stark apparently doesn't seek re-appointment, and rumors have it that Charles Hendrickson may also be thinking of quitting the commission.

ADVANCEMENT in science and health must be lengthening the life span of man. Passing the time of day with a well-known local mortician, I absent-mindedly asked, "How is business?"

"It's bad," came the reply. "So bad, I'm afraid to lie down when I'm at the mortuary."

I had barely got over that one when another of his colleagues called up: "Well how are today . . . Saay, you sound like you've got a cold." I was perfectly okay, until he said that.

THE BEAUTIFUL .357 Magnum revolver, confiscated from an ex-con, isn't floating around the courts any more. One of the many police officers, who would have loved to own it, assured me it's going back to its rightful owner — the ex-con's wife.

YOU DON'T HAVE to have sports at school to attract students. The 3-R School in San Rafael, which doesn't even sport a ping-pong team, boasts a summer enrollment increase of 600 per cent in four years.

AN ENTERPRISING newspaper distributor in Marin caught a paper thief the other day. He rigged up an elaborate movie camera and caught the thief in the act.

THE WORK-FURLOUGH program for county jail inmates has saved the county taxpayers more than $10,000 during the past year, according to the probation office. Instead of getting free board and room, the work-furlough inmates work during the day to reimburse the county and take care of families, and serve their time at nights and weekends.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Henry George Tax Theories Recalled

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Ward Austin need not be "suspicious" of the Henry George School of Social Science. George had greater respect for private property than any of the classical economists. He alone recognized the true significance of private property and the need for guaranteeing each man the right to keep the fruit of his efforts free of all taxes. He said taxes should fall solely on the publicly-created rental value of land. Let the public keep the values it creates and let each citizen keep the values he creates. Nothing could be simpler.

I suppose this might be considered subversive by those who believe governments should be allowed to levy multiple taxes on our incomes, sales, homes, factories, inventories, etc. But if that be subversion then we need more of it! If we believe in the sanctity of private property—and I do — then we must devise a tax system that protects private property.

SCIENTIFIC ITEMS BETTER

Should U. S. Schools Buy Soviet Equipment

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — A Senate committee within the next few days will decide whether to forbid our schools from buying Russian scientific equipment with federal dollars.

It's a situation that promises to trigger a broad investigation of Russia's economic offensive. Dozens of our schools and colleges have decided that Russian instruction equipment for science courses is the best bargain going. And several of the high schools want to use the federal money they get under the 1958 Nation Defense Education Act to buy it.

SEVERAL MEMBERS of Congress fear the purchases will feed the Russian propaganda mill. They say the propagandists will tell the world: "See, the United States even comes to us for the equipment it uses in its schools."

Domestic manufacturers also are upset. They admit the Russian equipment is the better buy. But they claim the prices are set below actual cost in an attempt to destroy the U.S. industry.

The ruckus started because of the Yankee ingenuity of a Cambridge, Mass., import house — the Ealing Corp. Its president, Paul D. Grindle, last year happened to notice some fancy science equipment in the background of a picture of a Russian classroom. He asked our Commerce Department if there were any rules against importing such Russian equipment. The Department said there were not. So off he went to Russia to investigate.

He found the equipment there advanced in design and as little as one-twentieth of the cost of comparable domestic products.

GRINDLE MADE a deal.

"The business rule I understand above all others," Grindle told a Senate subcommittee later, "is that if you can buy right you can sell right."

He ordered $40,000 worth of the Russian equipment. He said with hardly any advertising on his part, 1,200 inquiries and 53 firm orders came in from high schools and colleges.

Grindle charges that domestic manufacturers have been dozing inside the tariff wall they put up around their industry through intensive lobbying. "It comes as a shock to learn that the U.S. is the only country in the world, that we can discover," Grindle said, "that has had to form an official committee of its national physics teachers group to attempt to do something about what these teachers have termed the deplorable condition of the science teaching equipment available in the United States today."

He referred to a 1956 memorandum of an American Assn. of Physics Teachers committee. The memorandum said physics teachers were dissatisfied with "the high cost, relatively poor quality, lack of imagination and paucity of new developments in the current offerings of apparatus supply houses in this country." A spokesman for the association conceded the industry has made progress since then, but said: "We still have a long way to go."

THE 1958 NATIONAL Defense Education Act authorized the government to give high schools money to buy teaching equipment. Congress for this fiscal year authorized $49 million for that purpose. The states match the Federal money dollar for dollar.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) wants to prohibit schools from using any federal money to buy equipment made in Communist-dominated countries "so that we are not in any way aiding the Soviet effort for world domination." He was proposed to add such a prohibition on to the pending fiscal 1960 appropriations bill for the U.S. Office of Education. A Senate appropriations subcommittee will vote on his amendment shortly.

THE SCIENTIFIC Apparatus Makers Assn., representing the domestic industry, is pressing hard for the amendment. Besides citing the propaganda possibilities of the situation, the association maintains that if the equipment money were spent in this country, it would stimulate the industry and enable it to develop more advanced apparatus.

Bridges intends to ask for a Congressional investigation of the Russian economic offensive if his amendment fails. Similar proposals are pending in the House. Such a study has wide backing on Capitol Hill and probably will be authorized.

Senate Study Shows State Last In Nation In Engineering Students

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A State Senate investigating committee, headed by Senator Nelson P. Dilworth (R-Hemet), has criticized California colleges for placing too much emphasis on the 'easy' courses in higher education.

The report, result of two years investigation by the committee, dealt with a survey of engineering in colleges, particularly with reference to 1957 laws adopted expanding the engineering courses in state colleges.

"THE ACTION of the 1957 Legislature," the committee concluded, "in expanding engineering courses at the state colleges was well considered, and it anticipated the needs brought to popular attention by the sputniks.

"There is too much emphasis in California colleges on the 'easy' courses, and there is great need to attract the attention of high school students to professional fields and to science and engineering courses.

"A very small per cent of high school students choose high school courses that will qualify them for science and engineering majors in their university or college years and thus cannot major in engineering if they want to.

"THE LOW STANDING of California in engineering courses per college student is another confirmation of the growing conviction of this committee that high school counselors are not encouraging, as they should encourage, high school students to take the hard math and science courses in preparation for a professional career in science and engineering.

"It further confirms our view that arithmetic should have more attention in the elementary grades and be taught more thoroughly. When a student has thoroughly mastered arithmetic in the elementary grades, he is much more apt to choose math and science in the high school.

"A further step in the right direction would be to require arithmetic courses for all teachers who qualify for the elementary credential. Under our system of class organization, every teacher should be trained and competent to instruct pupils in arithmetic."

TESTIMONY GIVEN before the committee and transcribed in the report indicated that many high school teachers who appeared could not even remember what arithmetic courses they had taken in elementary school, and some had forgotten their high school courses.

In 1955, California was last of the states, in percentage of students in colleges enrolled in engineering, with 3.1 per cent. In 1958, the percentage jumped to 6.8 per cent, but California was still in last place.

LIVE UP TO YOUR OBLIGATIONS

Whatever your organization may be, it adds up to nothing more or less than one individual like you, over and over again. What you do, or fail to do, can therefore help or hurt its worthy objectives.

Because you, personally and individually, are so important, make it your business to:

(a) Be more than a "joiner": Membership confers rights, but it also imposes responsibilities.

(b) Attend meetings faithfully and take an active interest in proceedings.

(c) Work to eliminate unnecessary "red tape" and tedious procedures, which bore the average member and discourage attendance at meetings.

(d) Think for yourself. Don't be a rubber stamp.

(e) Develop the habit of getting all the facts, thinking things through, speaking on your feet and discussing issues in a logical way.

(f) If you are in a minority trying to push good ideas, remember God blesses perseverance!

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Whew!! Well, The Legislature Is Over For Another Two Years

Whew!!!!! Well, that's over for another two years.

Last night about midnight the state legislators finally banged the gavel and called it quits for 1959. In 1960 they have only a one month budget session. It won't be until 1961 that we have another general session such as wound up last night.

These last five days have been hectic, to say the least. Crazy things were happening.

I was walking out of the Assembly Chamber behind Assemblyman Jack A. Beaver of Redlands. We had just reached the chamber door when the speaker of the Assembly announced: "Beaver, Aye." The assemblyman turned slightly and mumbled: "I wonder what I voted for this time?" Then he headed for the coffee maker.

Assemblyman John A. O'Connell was explaining how simple the bill was that he was urging. "This bill merely restores the status quo," he declared. Everyone voted for it.

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan of Los Angeles was vigorously opposed to another measure, however. He said he had heard from his constituents. "I've been deluded with hundreds of telegrams and communications," he insisted.

One Assemblyman, however, took time out to make a telephone call and give a pat on the back to a Marin county official. Glenn E. Coolidge of Felton, vice chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and one of the leaders in the battle to improve state assessment practices, phoned Marin Assessor Bert Broemmel.

"I've just been shown one of those enclosures you send out with your tax bills," Coolidge explained. "It's one of the finest things of its kind I've seen and I just had to call you up and tell you so."

He was referring to the green explanation of assessment proceedures which Broemmel prepared for inclusion with the tax bills.

"And another thing," Coolidge went on, "I want to compliment you for putting right down in print for all to see just what your assessment ratio is. That's something that everyone should know."

Broemmel thanked the assemblyman and then, not wanting to let such a chance escape, lobbied him about a bill that was coming before the Assembly.

It will take weeks or longer to digest all of the things that have happened in Sacramento in the last few days. The time honored custom of the roll call in the Senate, which has resisted such mechanical inovations as electric voting machines, went by the boards early in the week. The way they worked it, as in years past, was to get one good roll call and then deem scores of other bills passed by the same roll call.

What this results in is that some senators will go home and find out to their horror that they have voted for things they were violently against. But they were on that key roll call and were out of the chambers when the key roll call was deemed passage for the bill they oppose. It's tough to explain that to an irate constituent.

In any case, there are 120 relieved legislators today. Most of them are still asleep.

Horse race addicts in far-off Pakistan had a 3-year-old named "Flag of State" who was rated on a par then with Tim Tam and Bold Ruler. For the big race of the season, however, Flag of State proved an all-Pakistan bust. He fell sound asleep at the barrier, while the crowd watched in stunned silence.

Investigation proved, however, that Flag of State was not to blame. Crooks had administered sedatives — and made the dose too strong. The indignant owner, only partly mollified, fired his jockey and renamed the horse Mr. Sandman.

Jerome Beatty cites the case of the forgetful husband who was sent by his wife to the supermarket to replenish her supply of a favorite cheese. Confused by all the display counters, he couldn't remember which way to turn. So he strode up to the manager and commanded sternly, "Take me to your liederkranz."

Rev. Shackell Leaves Novato Church Post

Rev. Richard Shackell, vicar of St. Francis Episcopal Church of Novato for the past two and one-half years, will leave that position July 1 to organize a new Episcopal Mission in Pleasant Hill.

His appointment as vicar to the yet unnamed and unbuilt church was made by the Right Rev. James A. Pike, Bishop of California.

Rev. Shackell came to the Novato church from Holy Trinity Parish in Willows, where he had served as rector. Since taking over as vicar at St. Francis, the number of communicants (confirmed members) has grown from 122 to 315. The Sunday school has increased from a membership of 80 to 270.

Since Rev. Shackell's arrival, the church has acquired a new vicarage in the Forest Park district, where he and his wife, Joan, and their daughters, Betsy, 5, and Sarah, 4, have resided. The former vicarage behind the church at Grant avenue and Fifth street has been converted to a Sunday school and meeting hall.

In the same time, St. Francis Church, in cooperation with St. Paul's Episcopal Church of San Rafael, helped to establish the Church of Nativity in Marinwood.

Rev. Shackell is a graduate of MacAlester College, St. Paul, and of the Berkeley Divinity School of New Haven, Conn., where he earned a bachelor degree in sacred theology.

The 32-year-old minister has enrolled at St. Margaret's House in Berkeley, where he will work part-time during the next two years toward a masters degree in Christian education.

The new Pleasant Hill mission will be composed of about 250 Episcopal families residing in that community, now affiliated with churches in Walnut Creek, Concord and Lafayette.

Rev. Shackell has served as president of the Child Guidance Center of Marin County, treasurer of the Mental Health Assn. of Marin County and a member of the board of directors of the Marin chapter of the American Red Cross. He was a founding member of the Novato Kiwanis Club.

He also has served as secretary-treasurer of the Episcopal convocation of Marin County and as a member of the evangelism commission of the Episcopal Diocese of California.

Rev. Kenneth Cleator, minister at the Wellton Street United Church in St. Catherine, Ont. Canada, has been named by Bishop Pike as successor to Rev. Shackell. He is due to arrive in Novato by July 19.

Rev. Cleator, an ordained minister in the United Church of Canada (a merger of the Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian Churches) will be ordained to the Diaconate of the Episcopal Church this summer.

REV. RICHARD SHACKELL
Leaves Novato July 1

The certificate of award was presented by Rev. Gerald S. Moyer, pastor of the church, at a dinner honoring eighth grade and high school graduates.

Brandt's 'Best Hit', Jones' Best Pitching Nips Braves

McCormick Vs. Burdette In Second Game Today

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Giants are in first place—and the Milwaukee Braves are acting as though they had just lost the World Series.

San Francisco put on one of its patented rallies last night to come from behind in the 10th inning and edge the National League Champions, 4-3.

That put the Giants a half-game in front—with two to go in the current series.

Today, it was Mike McCormick (4-6) on the mound for San Francisco against Lew Burdette (10-5).

The Braves thought they had wrapped up last night's game when outfielder Bill Bruton clouted a home run in the top of the 10th. But the Giants scored two runs before anyone was out to win on outfielder Jackie Brandt's bases loaded single.

"That's what I call a first-place hit," said the beaming young athlete later in the dressing room. "I guess that was about as important a hit as I ever got."

But there was no hilarity in the Milwaukee dressing room. The Braves, who now have lost five of their last seven games, talked in quiet tones with their heads hanging.

TERRIFIC DUEL

It had been a fine pitcher's duel between Sad Sam Jones of the Giants and Bob Buhl of the Braves before the 10th inning. "I took Buhl out after two were on base in the 10th because I thought Don McMahon, our best reliever, could force the batters to hit into a double play—or strike them out," said Manager Fred Haney.

But it didn't work out that way.

The Giants' half of the inning started out with Willie Mays getting a walk. Orlando Cepeda powered a single to center and Mays went to third. That's when McMahon came to the mound. He walked Daryl Spencer and set the stage for Brandt's blow to right field that scored Mays and Cepeda —and sent 22,984 fans home happy.

SAM'S BEST

It was the best pitching performance of the year for Jones who notched his eighth win against six losses. While nicked for eight hits, Sad Sam struck out nine.

"But the best part of the performance was the fact that he threw only 117 pitches in the 10 innings," said Coach Bill Posedel. "He usually throws about 140 pitches in nine innings."

The Giants fought from behind three times to get the victory. Milwaukee had picked up single runs in the first and third. San Francisco got one in the bottom of the third on singles by Andre Rodgers and Willie Kirkland; and another in the fifth on a single by Jim Davenport, a walk to Kirkland and a pair of infield outs.

And that's the way the score stood until the 10th inning fireworks.

Norton Bags 100 Crown In AAU Meet

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Bobby Morrow, one of the greatest sprinters of all time, may learn today at the National AAU Track and Field Championships whether his career has ended.

The 23-year-old Texan, co-holder of the world 100-yard dash record of 9.3 seconds, finished dead last yesterday in an attempt to qualify for the 100-meter dash.

"I just didn't have the old snap," he said. "I got a good start but I just didn't have it."

A leg muscle spasm suffered two weeks ago at Houston was discounted by Morrow for his miserable showing. "My leg felt fine," he said.

Morrow, the only athlete to win both the 100 and 200 meter dashes in the Olympic Games since the days of Jesse Owen, will try to recoup in today's 200-meter dash.

NORTON, POYNTER 1-2

But he faced strong competition from Ray Norton and Bob Poynter, both of San Jose State College. Norton and Poynter finished one-two in yesterday's 100-meter dash as Norton nipped his teammate by a split second for a 10.5 second time.

Big Parry O'Brien of the Southern California Striders set the only new meet record in yesterday's eight events, putting the 16-pound shot 62 feet, 2¼ inches, three inches farther than the record he set in last year's AAU.

New Mexico University's Rich Howard said his victory over World Record holder Glenn Davis in the 400-meter hurdles was his "greatest thrill." Davis ran second to Howard's 50.7 second time, which was far short of Davis' world record of 49.2.

Lanky Charlie Dumas of the Striders won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 9 inches to capture his fifth straight AAU title.

Yachts To Compete In East Bay Races

By ALFRED MATSON

Berkeley and Richmond yacht clubs are the co-hosts of a Yacht Racing Assn.-sanctioned regatta tomorrow with the starting line midway between Angel Island and the Richmond shore.

The program will get underway at noon with the lofty rigged greyhounds in Cruising Club "A" division leading the parade. The next hour and forty minutes will be hectic for the race committee; with starts every 5 minutes and the attendant guns to fire signal balls and flags to raise and lower, boats to be checked and listed, there will be scant time for even a cigarette. Men of race committees are a sturdy lot for they must assemble all their gear, get aboard whatever boat the host club has to offer, head out for the starting line and give a hand getting the anchors down. A frantic hour and forty minutes—then nothing for several hours, just the cold wind and pitching boat as they await the return of the winners and also rans. And that can be a long drawn out ordeal.

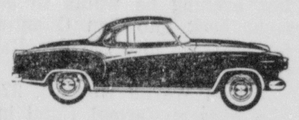

Next there is the mathematical chore of figuring handicaps and, for good measure, often they must give up a later evening to judge protests. A dedicated group of men unsung, unheralded and often reviled. They are the heroes of all regattas.

THE RE-RUN OF the final race for the women in the Adams Cup eliminations will be held next Saturday with an 11 a.m. start off the St. Francis Y.C. The same boats of the 210 class will be used, original crews and tiller maids, the latter being Jocelyn Nash, Ricki Treacy and Nancy Rogers. It will be a go-for-broke contest, the winner to represent the Bay Area in the semi-finals to be held in San Diego.

LOCAL ENTRANTS in the Honolulu Race are in the final stage of preparation and will be shoving off for San Pedro within the next few days to await that momentous starting gun on July 4 that will send them westward on the long, action-packed voyage to Diamond Head.

There are six boats from San Francisco officially entered, but only one—the Guy, owned by Pier Talenti of Belvedere—will fly the burgee of a Marin yacht club—the San Francisco Y.C. There will, however, be several Marin men aboard some of the entrants. Aldo Alessio of Belvedere and Bob Potter of Mill Valley will give their all on the Farallone Clipper Debit of Ted Stephens. Among others, Commodore Tompkins of Sausalito and Steve Matson of Belvedere have signed on the Good News owned by Jack Hedden. The Good News, it may be remembered, was the first to finish in last year's Bermuda Race and could upset the applecart in the forthcoming contest.

Strawberry Recreation Budget Voted

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District, at a regular meeting Wednesday night, adopted a $12,320 budget for the coming year but pronounced that it's too low to do a proper job.

It compares with $12,000 for the current year. The district's 60-cent tax rate may be reduced in the coming year.

Mrs. J. W. Gowen, board secretary, said that the largest item of $5,270 will be devoted largely to operation of the summer program which starts June 29. Another $3,300 goes to land payments with the balance earmarked for land development and reserve.

"The board feels that this budget is inadequate for the development of the proposed recreation center to be developed near the Strawberry Point School," Mrs. Gowen said. "Another $2,000 is needed."

The directors also accepted a grant deed to the five-acre parcel of property near the school which was purchased last September from the Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco for about $42,000.

Now used for Little League play, it is to be used for development of the future Strawberry Recreation Center.

Unbeaten Cuban Stops Redl In Video Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cubans have landed and the situation is well in hand.

A three-man invasion team from Havana established a beach head last night at Madison Square Garden. All three will be back August 7.

The familiar cry of "arriba" that used to greet Kid Gavilan's flurries echoed in the Garden for welterweight Florentino Fernandez and lightweights Carlos Hernandez and Douglas Vaillant. Although Hernandez was born in Caracas, Venezuela, Cuba claims him as its own because he has had all his pro fights in Havana.

Fernandez, the "big boy" of the trio, stopped Stefan Redl, Hungarian-born resident of Passaic, N.J., in 1:07 of the seventh round. Fernandez is a well-packed 144½-pounder with a solid left hook. Redl, stopped for the first time in his 28-bout career, weighed 147 pounds.

It was a strange ending. Fernandez was winning going away when he planted a left hook on Redl's jaw. Down went Stefan in his own corner. He came up at nine, just beating the 10-count. Referee Harry Ebbets took a look and asked, "Are you all right?" Redl said, "Yes" and then proceeded to walk out with his hands down. Ebbets quickly jumped between the men to stop it.

In his dressing room Redl said he thought the fight was over but claimed he could have continued. All three officials had Fernandez, a 23-year-old unbeaten boxer-puncher, way out front. It was his 20th straight victory and his 16th straight knockout. Judge Joe Agnello had it 6-0, Judge Mike Davodowich 4-2 and Referee Ebbets 5-1. The AP card agreed with Ebbets.

Fernandez' left hand that floored Redl was badly swollen in the room. He will have X-rays taken when he and the others return to Havana.

About 5,000 saw Hernandez, 133½, win his ninth straight by outpointing Luke Easter of Pittsburgh, 136, in eight rounds. Easter was down for an automatic eight-count in the sixth. He was the first of Hernandez' pro foes to go the distance.

The other Cuban making his U.S. debut was Vaillant, 134½, a lopsided winner over Jimmy Grow of Lewiston, Idaho, 136, in a 10-rounder.

Harry Markson, boxing director of the Garden, said all three will be back on an Aug. 7 show. Matchmaker Teddy Brenner hopes to pair Fernandez with Mexico's Gaspar Ortega.

Australian Leads Canadian Open

MONTREAL (AP) — Bruce Crampton, a good-looking 23-year-old Australian, led the way into the third round of the Canadian Open today.

His two-day total of 135, nine under par for the Islesmere course, left him with only a one-stroke margin over three top pros from the United States. A half dozen others were within shooting range of the lead.

"I was putting quite well today and I was driving well," Crampton said yesterday after shooting a nifty 67 to take the tournament lead.

One stroke back at 136 as the 100 survivors went into the third round were Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., PGA Champion Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif.

Very much in the running with 137s were Doug Ford and Jay Hebert while Billy Maxwell, Don Fairfield and Walker Inman Jr. had 138s.

Guilty Man Wants Quick Return To Prison

A 27-year-old San Rafael machinist, who has spent five of his last six years in jails and prisons, told a Marin judge last evening he wants to go right back into San Quentin for breaking into the San Rafael sewer treatment plant.

Marvin Wayne Howard, 27, who lives at Carmel Hotel in San Rafael, appeared before Judge Richard M. Sims with San Rafael Police Inspector Nick Giampoli to make the unusual request.

Howard later told newsmen he doesn't especially like San Quentin. "But since I'll have to go anyway, I don't want to do any dead time." "Dead time" is a term used to describe the period of waiting in jail before sentencing.

The judge and Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich said they would oblige, but the law couldn't move that fast. The best they could do was to call the eager Howard on the stand, allow him to testify against himself, and then rush him into superior court Monday for sentencing.

Howard said he crawled through a window at the treatment plant, stole two guns and tools, and took off last Sunday night. Giampoli and Officer Richard Camper caught him yesterday.

Inspector Giampoli said the guns were kept at the plant by plant operator Frank Keegan. Howard said he pawned them in Vallejo for $25. The inspector said that $250 worth of tools were also taken.

Howard served one and one-half years at the Oklahoma federal reformatory for car theft. In 1953, he went to San Quentin for a Los Angeles burglary, serving 27 months. He was paroled in 1956. Last year he served a year in county jail for burglary. He got out last April 23.

avenue. By the time Nelson emerged from the main part of the restaurant the man had disappeared.

The second man was not seen again.

Apparently the first window broken was in the back of the "lube" room at Lee Busolo's Chevron service station at 634 San Anselmo avenue, Serio said.

The pair apparently took a hammer, a wrench and grease bar there and used the bar to pry open cash drawers in other establishments.

Busolo's metal safe had been forced open. "There was nothing in it but a few keys and the combination to the safe," Busolo said. A roll of 50 pennies was missing from his smashed cash register, papers and a display case were strewn on the floor.

Next door, at Sally's Apparel, a rear plate glass window was shattered, papers and invoices scattered in a "terrific mess" on the floor, and about $100 missing from a cash drawer, said the store owner, Mrs. Natalie Salen.

"It's the first time anything like this has happened in nine years," she said. The merchandise was untouched.

Jane's Beauty Haven, the only shop to have a front window smashed, was missing about $50. Business papers and glass were found in a mess on the floor, said Adeene Lawrence, shop manager.

A rear plate glass window was shattered at Brown's For Men and Boys, and supplies and papers were scattered. Merchandise was untouched.

A charity canister with small change and a dollar bill inside was left standing on a desk counter.

Down at the Ranch House restaurant later in the morning owner Wesley Martin was counting the money in his cash register. Less than $20 was missing, he said.

Two Church Groups To Hear Chaplain

An explanation of a new chaplain's work at the county juvenile hall in Lucas Valley will be given before members of the Marin County Council of Churches and the United Church Women of Marin when they meet at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Ervin C. Tipton, 25 Sunset way, San Rafael.

Lowell King, third-year student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, who began as chaplain on June 1, will be introduced by David Fogel, new superintendent at the juvenile hall.

Mrs. John Thomson, president of the United Church Women, will preside at a business meeting.

The two church organizations at the joint meeting are sponsoring the religious program at juvenile hall. A request for contributions from individual churches will be made at the Monday meeting, Mrs. Tipton said.

Inmates Get Gift For Father's Day

San Quentin has received a Father's Day remembrance. The nearly 5,000 prisoners there who, since last October, have been foster fathers to 10-year-old Diamanto Samartzi of Greece were sent a gift of her handiwork, a six-inch square of embroidery showing a stork on a house.

STEPFATHER TO 3

Novato Man Chosen KTIM Dad Of Year

Fred Keller of Novato, father of a 2-year-old son and stepfather to three other youngsters, two of them handicapped, has been chosen as Marin Father of the Year by the staff of radio station KTIM.

He is step-father to a 9-year-old girl who has cerebral palsy, a 5-year-old girl who is almost blind and a boy, 11. He is 43 years old and unemployed.

One of the letters nominating Keller said: "If patience is a virtue, he is tops. Tenderness and loving care to these children by him is a wonderful sight to see. In wordly goods they have nothing, but these children have in their 'Dad' God's blessings in a million ways."

Keller and his family recently moved to 1661 Center road, Novato, from San Rafael.

Keller and his wife will have a Father's Day gift of an overnight stay at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Other prizes for Keller are a power saw and a pair of safety belts for his car.

About 30 Marin fathers were nominated in the search for the Marin Father of the Year. "It is too bad they can't see the wonderful letters that their wives and children and neighbors wrote about them," said KTIM manager Hugh Turner.

me with vocabulary and pronunciation. I could never have done it without him."

For the teacher it was a matter of daily study to keep up with the two 20-minute lessons. For the custodian, it meant a perfect attendance record for the television broadcasts twice a week. For both it was a daily task to ease Mrs. Myers' struggle with a new language.

"I've enjoyed every minute of it," says Marquez.

"I knew you did," is Mrs. Myers' response. "If you hadn't, I would never have asked you to continue with it."

Marquez' idea of a custodian's duties are liberally defined. "After all," he says, "We're all in the same family. We all have the same purpose —education. I love children and they love me.

BUENOS DIAS

"In the morning they would never say hello to me—it was always 'Buenos Dias.' At night it was always 'hasta la vista.'"

To help stimulate the young minds, the custodian occasionally would bring mementos of Peru to the classroom, bringing the Spanish speaking peoples much closer to the 34 fourth graders than they had ever been before. Often he helped them, as well as Mrs. Myers, with pronunciation.

"He taught us to sing 'Silent Night' in Spanish. He brought romance to the history of South America," said Mrs. Myers. "The children have all enjoyed him. Last Monday we had a Mexican fiesta, and they were very worried that the senor might not come."

He came.

"This particular age-group is a show-up age," says Marquez. "The children are interested in not just grade points, but they want to prove to everybody they can do something nobody else can.

MORE ENJOYMENT

"I have found in my life that people who know more than one language get more enjoyment from life—they have a sense of accomplishment."

Marquez tells of an incident in a Bay Area department store, where a Spanish speaking woman was having difficulty telling a clerk she wanted to make a purchase.

"The clerk was very anxious to make the sale, and the woman wanted the merchandise so bad, but neither of them could get the other to understand. It was like a ray from heaven had lighted up their faces when I came on the scene to translate for them."

Marquez came to this country at the age of 15, after graduating from high school. He was a hat manufacturer in San Francisco for 27 years before assuming the job of custodian at Marion four years ago. He has two grown children.

He is the grandson of Col. Victor Nieto, a personal aide to Peruvian patriot Simon Bolivar during that country's Revolutionary War of Independence.

The driver and three other teen-agers were not injured, the California Highway Patrol reported. The CHP said the accident, first reported to the sheriff's office, happened at about 4:15 a.m. today.

said the Republican Party in California "clearly doesn't want a labor reform bill of any kind."

"The motive is clear," he added. "Vice President Richard Nixon said in San Francisco last week that he wanted to make 'labor reform' the principal issue in the 1960 election.

"His hand has frequently been in evidence in the Republican caucus during this session of the Legislature, but it has never been heavier than it was today."

Proponents said the bill wouldn't hurt clean unions. Opponents said it wasn't needed, or that it called for more study.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, June 20, the 171st day of the year, with 194 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is full.

The morning star is Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1782, Congress adopted the eagle as the American emblem.

In 1819, the Savannah arrived at Liverpool to become the first steamship to cross the Atlantic.

In 1863, West Virginia was admitted to the union as the 35th state.

In 1867, the government announced the purchase of Alaska from Russia.

Thought for today: The French poet Baudelaire said, "To be a great man and a saint for oneself, that is the one important thing."

IN MEMORIAM

Father's Day remembrances of my wonderful father, Alfred R. Pasquinucci:

Father's Day was always a happy day
That we celebrated together, Dad
But now that God has called you away
I find it so lonely and sad . . .

I wish with all my heart
That you were here with me
But though we are far apart
I'm with you this day . . . in memory.
Sadly missed by your daughter

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. each day the code letters are different.

Marin Teachers Leave On Europe Study Trips

Almost 100 teachers and members of their families are scheduled to fly tonight from California to Europe and the Soviet Union for a comparative education seminar.

Among those scheduled to go on the trip from Marin are: Mr. and Mrs. Frank George, Mr. and Mrs. Lauriston Tardy, Jennifer Tardy and Judith Tardy, San Rafael; George J. Baker, Dr. and Mrs. Siegbert Lazar, San Anselmo; Mr. and Mrs. Ned Leibert, Edmund T. Leibert and Jan Leibert, Sleepy Hollow; Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Lord, Corte Madera, and Mr. and Mrs. Val Travaglini.

Other passengers on the trip arranged by the Redwood Travel Advisors at 1344 Fourth street, San Rafael, will be from other parts of California and from other states.

Frank George, co-owner and manager of the agency, said the agency is the first in the country to arrange "an exclusive group of educators" for such a trip.

The group will make a comparative study of educational trends of eight European countries and the Soviet Union. Part of the group will visit Spain instead of Russia.

Director of the tour will be Dr. Robert Ward, and he will meet the group upon its arrival in Europe. The tour is sponsored by the Central Coast Section of the California Teachers' Assn. Director of the seminar will be Dr. Ralph S. Troge. Tardy will be group leader.

George and Baker will leave the group July 3 and go to Moscow to visit the official travel organization. They will travel through Russia and stop at Odessa.

When the travel group members reaches Russia they will be the guests of the vice president of the University of Moscow where they will attend seminars with Russian teachers.

Someof the problems under observation will include present day American education as compared with European education in aims and basic philosophy, in organizational structure and administration, in teacher recruitment, training, salary and professional status, in counseling and guidance, in distribution of students between various main branches of study and in adult education.

Budget Hearing Set

A public hearing on the proposed $4,500 budget for the Bolinas harbor district has been set for 8 p.m., July 23, at the Stinson Beach community center, according to Louis De Ghelder, secretary.

The bulk of the budget has been earmarked for engineering and promotion.

Inmate Music Composition Judging Today

Original music composed by San Quentin inmates is being judged today for the fifth annual Music Festival of the institution. Entries from 30 composers in eight classifications are being considered for three prizes in each class. Prizes are canteen cards.

Judges for the event are Thompson Chesnut, music instructor at College of Marin; Nathan Rubin, music instructor at Mills College; and Dr. Thomas P. Kendell, of the Kendell Conservatory of Music in Oakland.

Classifications for competition include popular vocal, popular instrumental, national, folksongs, religious, dance band arrangement, dance band composition, and concert band composition. The selections will be played and sung by prisoners who are Warden's Show performers.

The compositions will be given their "public" debut next Saturday at 10 a.m. at an outdoor concert near the employees' snack bar outside the prison walls. The audience will be employees and their guests.

Engineers Society Elects B. G. Grant

He succeeds Domnic Selmi, San Rafael city engineer.

Others named were: Harvey Vicchio, Pacific Telephone engineer, and George Gaebler, superintendent of gas for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., secretary.

Brand New 1903 Auto Roams Marin

Victor P. Reed made the trip via Highway 101 from his home at 25 Glen drive in Mill Valley to San Rafael Thursday afternoon in a little over 20 minutes, and he made the grade from Alto in high gear.

Considering his vehicle, Reed thinks it's worth boasting about. He was driving a 1959 adaptation of a 1903 car called the Surrey. It looks rather like a dandified surrey, too, with bright red paint, square brass head lamps, wooden spoke wheels, and jaunty fringed awning on top.

If you just can't remember a car of that make, Reed says not to worry, for there have been some 2,700 makes of automobiles in the U.S. since the first horseless carriage appeared. This motorized perambulator doesn't qualify for the serious horseless carriage fans because it's of modern manufacture, being produced for sale at $1295 by the Bliss company, Canton, Ohio.

There is no Marin Surrey dealer at present.

Prospective buyers will want to know that the car has one cylinder, two speeds forward and one reverse, mechanical brakes, a six volt battery but no generator—a magneto ignition—and if that runs down there is a kick start similar to a motorcycle's. The gas tank hold two gallons, the crankcase a pint of oil.

Planners Study Tighter Zoning For Apartments

A set of proposals to tighten apartment zoning will be considered by the Marin County Planning Commission when it meets at 2 p.m. Monday at 1711 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

If the planning commission approves the more stringent controls, they will be embodied in an amendment to the county's zoning ordinance.

Among the proposed changes are a requirement for 1,750 square feet of lot area per apartment unit (in place of no similar requirement); three parking places provided for every two units (instead of one for one); and at least 20 per cent of the building site reserved for landscaping (in place of no similar requirement).

The planning commission will be asked to set a limit to the number of units in an apartment building. The planning commission staff has been thinking in terms of "something like six or eight or ten," reported Planner Bill Dobbs.

The R-3 zoning which the planning commission intends to amend is the maximum population density zone permitted in unincorporated Marin County.

Two rezoning applications up for consideration Monday afternoon will be affected by the planning commission's decision on the proposed R-3 zone amendment.

One is an application for R-3 zoning submitted by the First Congregational Church of San Rafael for a 160 by 200 foot parcel of land on the south side of Merrydale road at the site of a new church.

Another is an apartment zone application for 6.5 acres on the west side of Highway 101 opposite Hamilton Air Force Base entered under the name of Adeline Bianchi.

Novato Showings Of Resuscitation Film Extended

A 10-minute film strip on the mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration will continue to be shown tomorrow and Monday at the main Novato fire station, Chief George J. Cavallero announced.

The film was to have been shown for the last time last night from 7 to 9 o'clock, but special permission was obtained from the 12th Naval District at San Bruno to hold the film over through Monday. The film, made available by the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, Washington, D.C., will be forwarded to the San Bruno Navy Station, said the chief.

Hours for continuous showing are from 7 to 9 p.m.

Installing officer will be William Taylor, deputy district governor.

Borgward Wins Big Economy Classic

Averaging 39.14 miles per gallon a stock Borgward Isabella touring sport sedan scored a "clean sweep" in the 1959 South Africa Mobilgas Economy Run from Capetown to Port Elizabeth.

The challenging 1056-mile course, covering all types of roads, was said to present practically every traffic condition to be met by a motorist in South Africa. Drivers in the contest, and the official observers on the run, reported that road and weather conditions were the worst encountered in the five years the great international economy classic has been held under sanction of the Royal Automobile Club of South Africa.

In averaging 39.14 miles per gallon, the Borgward not only swept its class—1201-1800 cc—but topped the entire field, which included American cars as well as products of European countries. MARATHON MOTORS, INC., 365 Francisco Blvd., San Rafael.

15c—SALE—15c HOUSE PLANS

If you are a house dreamer, we have just the bargain for you. Marin Magazine has several dozen house plans left from past issues. The collection is not complete, but does represent a wide assortment of floor plans and facades.

These will be sold on a first-come basis at 15 cents each (original price, 35 cents). Samples of each of the available plans may be seen at the phone operator's desk inside the 1040 B Street entrance to the Independent-Journal Building in San Rafael.

THE PURPLE OLIVE has a strong pearl-gray shell shaded with purple, or it may be white with a narrow purple band. If you file or rub off the apex, the shells may be easily strung as attractive beads. In life the Purple Olive likes the shore near low tide line where rocks and sand join. These shells are usually abundant at Bolinas. (From Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyright by M. F. Austin)

Very Serious Set Of Symptoms: Temperature Up, Wild Impulses

IF IT HADN'T BEEN for Gladys Harvey talking yesterday about her husband going gold mining this summer, and then meeting Dr. and Mrs. Herman Gross (he's the new medico at San Quentin) last night at Le Chateau, I might not be thinking about it today.

It's been a long time since we got our scalps singed by the gold fever and if you think that's how we accumulated our enormous wealth I may as well tell you here and now we didn't—that way or any other.

Dr. Gross mentioned they had a little spread up in Trinity County and I said we'd come through there once from quartz mining in the Siskiyous. It turned out that where we were in Sawyers Bar and his place in Trinity Center are only 40 or 50 miles apart but they are separated by some of the most virgin country in California. There's always been a lot of gold mining going on here and I guess people have made money at it, but Mrs. C. and I weren't among them.

It was back in '34 that we quit our jobs in SF and threw in with these fellows which was a brave thing to do, you'll have to admit, because those were depression days and jobs weren't easy to come by, but it looked like a sure thing and gold was up to a new high of $31.36 an ounce.

Our bonanza was the old Malloy claim on Tanner's Peak and it had paid out hundreds of thousands in its day with the crudest kind of equipment. One of our group was an engineer and he figured we could set up ourselves for life by using high speed machinery. Assays ran all the way from $30 to $1,100 a ton, so anyone with any sense could see that we couldn't miss.

WE HAD TO pack in a mile and a half over a steep switchback trail up the mountain. There were burros to do the work but neither of them was very co-operative loaded with 100 pounds or more of supplies.

Doc Gross said if we'd have held a cigarette in front of their noses they would have followed us anywhere, because burros love to eat tobacco. We'd tried the cigarette test but not the same way. The cigarettes were lit and we didn't hold them to their noses.

Our so-called high speed machinery suffered one setback after another. Then there wasn't enough water at that elevation for a steady run of the mill. When we built a stone dam using a 1-8 concrete mix the water pressure sent it tumbling down the mountain.

Food consisted mainly of beans, bacon and prunes. Sundays we had a change — prunes, bacon and beans. Pack rats, yellow jackets and civit cats tried to carry it off and we had to hang it from the cabin rafters at night if we expected to eat the next day. Tempers grew short and ragged, and fighting among ourselves was narrowly averted.

One day we ran out of cash, food and luck, all at the same time. We remembered then all the mill tests we'd been making and that lots of free gold must have accumulated on plates. Chisels, knives and scrapers were put to work.

That night we distilled a big gob of stuff in a retort and ran off the quicksilver. What we had left was a heavy, black chunk about the size of a large grapefruit.

We took it to the bank in Etna where we were advanced $395 (60 per cent of its estimated value) pending refining returns from the smelter. We celebrated with a big steak dinner, bought more supplies and headed back to the mine.

TWO WEEKS LATER we got the smelter report. We owned the bank $100 — and we'd already spent it.

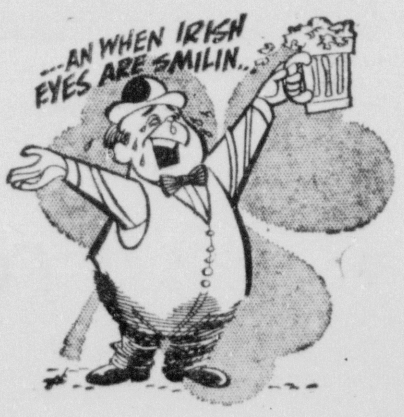

The fever broke. Mrs. C. and I didn't stick around long after that. The rest followed us back to the city a short time later.

Yessir, when your face gets flushed and you run a temperature thinking about gold mining and sudden riches, here's my advice.

Take two aspirins and go to bed.

You'll be all right in the morning.

Maybe.

'Fighting D. A.' In Old Tradition

Al Bagshaw Cleaned Vice From Marin Amid Gunfire And Threats Of Violence

By WAT TAKESHITA

You can probably find a suave district attorney with silver on his tongue. And a "fighting D.A." in the old West tradition, with lead in his gun.

But it is a rarity to find the two types rolled into one. Marin County has just such a man — in mild-mannered Albert E. Bagshaw, a greying and handsome city attorney for San Rafael and one of the top trial lawyers of the Bay Area.

Still youthful-looking but just turned 57, Bagshaw admits he is at the stage of life where he would "like to coast awhile." But there has been no coasting in the life of Bagshaw, identified as the one man who did more than any other individual to run vice and violence out of the county during his 16 years as fighting D.A.

His life history reads like an action-packed Hollywood drama, complete with a shotgun blast that halted a prison break, death threats against his family, and subsequent courtroom scenes where the handsome, dark-haired D.A. argued his cases with such magnetism that he became the matinee idol of almost every juror who saw him in action.

But his enthusiasm for prosecution was tempered with a sense of fair play. Bagshaw is remembered to this day for this policy which he laid down to all of his deputies:

"You'll never be asked to prosecute anyone unless you yourself are convinced he is guilty."

But once convinced, Bagshaw went after his man, come hate or high water.

This tradition has continued to this day, to give Marin the reputation of being one of the "cleanest" counties in the state.

It was during his 16 years as D.A. in Marin that he earned the title of "fighting D.A.," with good cause. He didn't go looking for trouble; action just seemed to come his way, and he was ready to meet them.

The first one hit on Jan. 16, 1935, just seven days after he had been sworn in as district attorney. Bagshaw was in Tomales with Undersheriff Ed Blum and Tomales' new constable, Jack Bones, trying a dozen youths on petty theft. Word flashed that four armed San Quentin desperadoes had attacked Warden J. B. Holohan, had taken four members of the prison board as hostages, and were fleeing in the warden's car on the Black Point cutoff.

The drawbridge at Petaluma Creek stopped the fleeing cons, who doubled back and roared toward Hicks Valley.

Back at Tomales, Constable Bones rounded up a posse. Undersheriff Blum kept his revolver but handed Bagshaw his sawed off shotgun, both barrels loaded with 12 gauge buckshot.

The convicts and hostages came careening around the curve. Constable Bones and his posse shot out a tire. In the exchange of shots, two hostages and a convict were grazed. The car headed straight for the Valley Ford Creamery, ramming the building. The convicts jumped into the creamery building.

Blum and Bagshaw crept to the rear. All of a sudden, Blum yelled: "Look out Al—behind you." The young D.A. whirled in time to spot ringleader Rudolph B. Straight, 34, crouched behind some milk cans with an automatic in his hand. Bagshaw fired one blast, dropping the convict in his track. The other three gave up, and all hostages were saved.

In the trial that followed, prosecutor Bagshaw applied the Lindbergh law for the first time to a situation where the primary offense was not kidnapping but escape, and got a conviction before Judge Edward I. Butler. Fred Landers, 27, San Francisco robber, drew a life term. Joe Kristy, 26, Los Angeles kidnaper, and Alex MacKay, Los Angeles robber, were executed at San Quentin, the last two to die by hanging in California.

Bagshaw still has the spare shell which was in the shotgun that killed Straight. He does not need that as a reminder. During the trial, he got a threatening letter from the infamous Boyle Heights Gang of Los Angeles, who swore they would kill his daughter Diane if MacKay were executed.

During the next few years, gambling became Bagshaw's target. Gambling flourished in San Rafael, especially in one joint on C street.

A wealthy Chinese called on the young D.A. with valuable gifts including a gold watch and precious jade. He wanted to open up a gambling barge in the bay. For the next half year, Bagshaw quietly collected the gifts and $200 per month "payoff" in the courthouse safe as evidence. During the payoffs, one deputy D.A. hid in a walk-in type vault to listen to the payoff conversation. Bagshaw also used wire recorders.

When the time was ripe, Bagshaw got a posse, raided the gambling den, and prosecuted the leaders for conspiracy and bribery. That was the last large-scale gambling in San Rafael.

Around 1939, gamblers moved into Sausalito and began offering bribes to officers, who immediately notified the D.A. Bagshaw clamped down again.

About 1944, the district attorney went after slot machines, corralling a warehouse full of several hundred machines in a warehouse in San Anselmo. The days of big time gambling in Marin were over.

Bagshaw lives with his wife Audrey at 8 Scenic avenue, San Rafael. He was appointed city attorney in 1956 and was re-elected for four years last April.

His parents came to Mill Valley in 1897. His father Fred W. Bagshaw, first peace officer in Mill Valley, was the town marshal, astride a white mare named Lily.

Al left Tamalpais High School to work for a wholesale milk firm in San Francisco. One pay day, he got into a dice game and lost his two weeks' earnings. In disgust, he set up a busy study schedule for himself by entering night law school at the University of San Francisco. He also took a secretarial course in the mornings before he went to work at the milk firm. His first job after completing the course was secretary to the United States Marshal. This set him upon the course of law enforcement.

He rose from deputy marshal to assistant United States district attorney, a post he held from 1929 to 1932.

During World War II, he was lieutenant commander with the Coast Guard intelligence from 1943 to 1945. Bagshaw was the first president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn.

In 1950, while district attorney, he ran for superior court judge against the then State Sen. Thomas F. Keating, who won in a close contest.

He has two daughters. One is Diane Washburn, former model and now wife of a Broadway singer. The other is Vanna Barnes of Carmel. T. Fred Bagshaw, former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, is his first cousin.

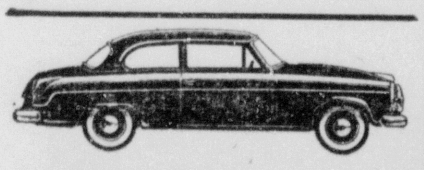

Al credits his stepfather, the late Gus Oppenheimer of Mill Valley, as being an inspiration and a source of great help to him. Oppenheimer owned two markets in Mill Valley and served as its mayor and fire commissioner.

Al has been out of the district attorney's office for eight years. But to citizens of the county and among law enforcement circles, he is still the Mr. District Attorney who rid the county of lawlessness and laid the groundwork for a clean county. And to his successors in the district attorney's office, he is still revered as "The Old Master himself."

Now at 57, he has no political ambitions and talks of "coasting." But for years to come, you can bet you'll be seeing Al Bagshaw in action before his favorite audience, the trial jury.

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—Presently San Rafael city attorney, Al Bagshaw is in his element in the courtroom. While his maneuvers during his 16 years as Marin County District attorney were legal, his campaign against vice brought threats of violence and gunplay. Lava Oozing Into Submarine Beds Created Rare Minerals In Abundance

By WILLIS PELLETIER

One of the most interesting collecting places, for the rock hounds of the Bay Area, is the Tiburon Peninsula, site of last Sunday's Marin Nature Group trip. Here, uncommon and somewhat rare mineral species occur in abundance.

One species, Lawsonite, was first found in this area and described in 1895 by Ransome. It was named in honor of the late Andrew C. Lawson of the University of California. Since its discovery, Lawsonite has been found elsewhere in California but rarely elsewhere in the world.

Mineral species to be found in this area are:

Actinolite, Albite, Antigorite, Axinite, Calcite, Chalcopyrite, Chrysotile, Clinochlore, Chromite, Clinozoisite;

Diopside Dolomite, Epidote, Glaucophane, Garnet, Hornblende, Quartz;

Jasper, Limonite, Lawsonite, Manganocalite, Magnetite, Magnesite, Muscovite, Nephrite;

Olivine, Opal, Pyrite, Pyrophyllite, Penninite, Pumpellyite, Psilomelone, Prochlorite, Rutile;

Riebeckite, Sphene, Tremolite, Zircon, Stilpnomelane, Talc, Voelckerite.

One might well wonder the origin of this localized diversity of minerals; to understand this, one must delve into the present rock structure of the are as well as its geologic history.

THE SEDIMENTARY rocks of this area were deposited in a rapidly down sinking trough of Middle Cretaceous Age (approximately 110,000,000 years ago). Submarine volcanic activity accompanied this sedimentation resulting in local basalt lava flows.

Related to this volcanic activity were numerous hot springs discharging waters containing large quantities of dissolved "quartz." The lavas hardened to form the basalts of the peninsula while the "quartz" bearing waters of the hot springs gave rise to the chert beds of today.

Mineral salts dissolved in the cherts gave them their varied colors (iron-red, brown and green, manganese-lavender, etc.)

As the basin containing these marine sediments filled it was compressed from the sides forcing the sediments

Diplomats Without Portfolio

Marin Has No Embassies (Officially) But Has Seven Student Ambassadors

By BARBARA ATKISSON

In Marin there are no embassies, but ambassadors here are seven — seven — gifted diplomats under 18, and, with one exception, newly graduated—or about to be —from six of Marin county's secondary schools.

These young envoys without portfolios are the foreign exchange students sponsored by the American Field Service, who have lived with Marin families for almost a year, and are now about to return to their own countries.

Reading from north to south, they are: Miss Gudrun Zschenderline of Berlin and Novato, A.F.S. "daughter" of the James Cuzners, who notes that "San Francisco is more beautiful, but Berlin is more modern." In Germany, Gudrun attends a public school with 1300 students. She wants to be an airline hostess, but intends to spend a year between now and then teaching math and German to American students. She will, in short, return.

SO WILL Gigi—Margarete Karenke, that is, of Bonn, Germany, and San Rafael, California — "in care of" the James W. McFarlanes. Pretty Gigi would like to study in the U.S. after she has attended the University of Bonn. Her "major" (as we say in this country): political science; her aim: the foreign service.

Bill Rayner, a handsome blond and ruddy lad from Opotika (Maori for "place of the youngest child"), New Zealand, has been a student at Drake High School and the AFS "son" of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Merman of San Anselmo. Bill reports that Opotika is a coastal dairy center and that its 2,000 population is half Maori, half "assorted." He is keen on sports of all kinds, but especially swimming and Rugby ("By all odds the most popular sport in New Zealand"), expects to attend a university in Orkland, and plans to become an accountant.

REDWOOD HIGH'S recent graduate, Martina Jiminez-Diaz of Santiago, Chile, is the only child of the sports editor of one of Santiago's leading newspapers. In San Rafael, she is a "daughter" of the Robert L. Tracys. Endowed with everything it takes to charm the birds out of the trees, Martina has done her bit to further friendly international relations—a cause to which she is ardently devoted, and one that she intends to make a career of, first at the University of Chile, and later in the foreign service.

In Ross, the John C. Gilmans have been the proud "parents" of Miss Kimiko Sogabe, until recently a student at Katherine Branson's. Because the Japanese school year begins in April, Kimiko could not graduate with her class at Miss Branson's, but will finish high school instead in her native Takamatsu City, in the province of Kagawa on the island of Shikoku.

At Miss Branson's, Kimiko "learned so much" and made so many friends (the entire student body of 150 girls) that she is looking forward to returning to the U.S. for graduate work following a course in political science and languages at the University of Tokio.

"I was surprised," said Kimiko in perfectly enunciated English. "I did not know Americans studied so hard."

TOMORROW, Ritva Hannonen of Kuhmoinen, Finland, and Houshank Dezfulian of Tehran, Iran, will be graduated from Tamalpais Union High School. During the commencement exercises, their "parents" will beam from the audience (Ritva's are the Norman Richards of Corte Madera; Houshang's, the Peter Drefuss' of Mill Valley); their "brothers" and "sisters" will stand beside them.

Ritva, whose shy smile could melt the flintiest heart, is also dedicated to the foreign service. She will study languages when she returns to Finland, but, her friends hope, will one day come back to the country where—as she says, "everything goes much faster. Everybody is rushing around."

TAMALPAIS High School's second exchange student (Tam is the only school in Marin that consistently "imports" two), Houshang Dezfulian plays chess and the Iranian "santour" with equal skill. Clearly an intellectual, "Housh" insists that "American schools are not hard enough" and that "American boys and girls have too much freedom."

Of Tehran, he wants it to be known that "it is not so backward as everybody thinks," and adds, "I do not ride to school on a camel."

YOUNG ENVOYS—Ambassadors without portfolios are these exchange students brought from foreign lands to study at local high schools. They are: (from left) William Rayner of New Zealand (Drake High) in Maori costume; Francoise Marin of France, (Gigi) Karenka of Bonn, Germany (S. R. High); Haushang Dezfulian of Iran (Tam High); South American friend with (next) Martina Jimenez-Diaz of Chile (Redwood High), Kimiko Sogabe of Japan, and Gudrun Zschenderline of Berlin (Novato High). Miss Marin is studying on the Peninsula but spent two weeks in Marin while her counterpart, Ritva Hannonen of Finland, visited on the peninsula. Picture was taken at a dinner held jointly by American Red Cross, Experiment in International Living and American Field Service. (George Wheeler Photo) into a series of upfolds (anticlines) and downfolds (synclines).

GEOLOGY

ABOUT THIS TIME a mass of molten rock called peridotite forced its way upward into the sediments of this area. Upon cooling, the peridotite began absorbing and giving off water. As a result of absorbing water, the peridotite increased its volume several times, exerting great pressure upon the surrounding sedimentary rocks. The combination of this pressure and the emulating solutions rich in calcium, magnesium and iron resulted in the alteration of the peridotite and the surrounding sediments. The peridotite became serpentine, the sediments schists and the basalts greenstones. Locally the cherts were altered to quartzite.

The geologic structure of the area is of further interest since it accounts for the large land slides and hillside creep of the area. The permanent springs of the Tiburon peninsula have their origin in the sponge-like areas of serpentine.

The distribution of wild flowers, shrubs and trees is controlled, in part, by the local variations in the underlying rock type.

The Marin Nature Group meets monthly, usually on the second Friday, at 8:15 p.m. in Room 40, Chemistry Building, College of Marin. Field trips are held on the ensuing Sunday. Children accompanied by parents are welcome.

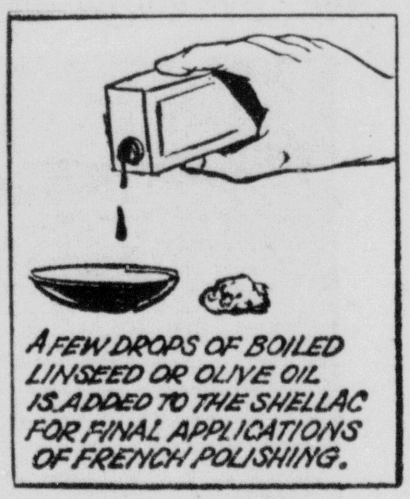

CHITONS are fairly numerous on the rocks that are exposed at low tide. They may be easily recognized by the eight overlapping, shingle-like plates of the shell. Wave washed plates picked up on the beach are sometimes called "butterfly shells" by children. A Chiton attaches itself firmly to the rocks by a broad muscular foot which enables it to move sluggishly about as it feeds on algae. There are many species, mostly dull gray, brown, or olive in color, and varying from 1 to 3 inches in length. The Giant Chiton, living below low tide line, is seldom seen unless washed up during a storm. It appears red and leathery, and may be 8 in. long. (From Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyright by M. F. Austin)

AFTERTHOUGHT

If you can't judge a "beat" by his beaver,
And you can't judge a bard by his verse,
And you can't be the artist's aggriever,
Nor the tenor of music accurse;
If you can't call a "beat" non-conventional
As he creates his gethsemane,
Then I wonder if it is intentional
That the "beat" judges people like me?

New Role For Teen-Agers

Aides Share In Staff Duties At Daily Vacation Bible School

High school age aides will help the adult staff as a new feature of the daily vacation Bible school at the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo when the school begins Monday.

The two week school is directed by Mrs. Stanley Peterson and staffed by adult members of the church, located at the corner of Sir Francis Drake and Sais avenue. Young people will help with all the classes, to be held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. with recreation and rest periods included.

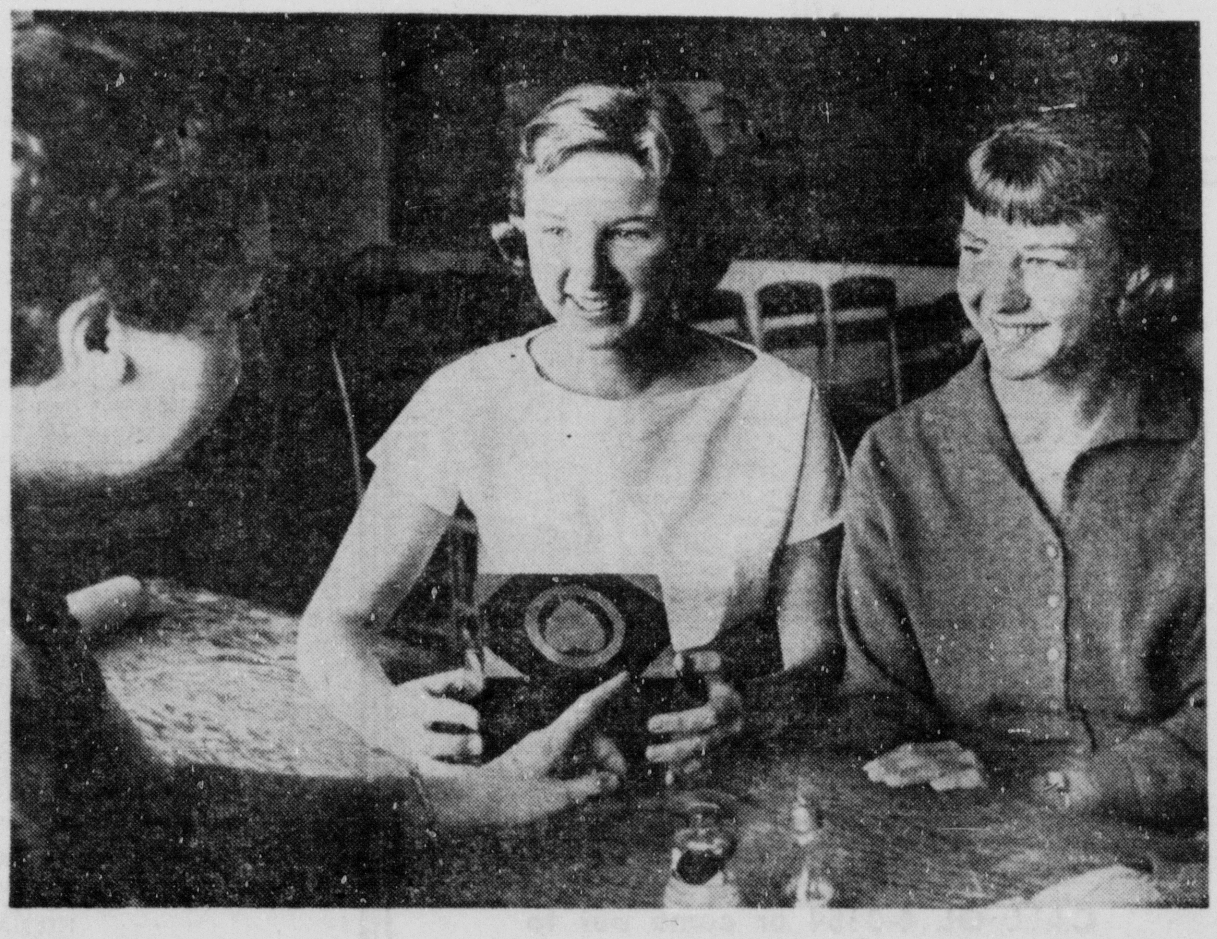

The aides attended a special Bible study course for six weeks preceding, on subjects of study classes, craft work, psychology of small children and recreation. These classes were held in the evenings at the homes of the young people.

"Living for Jesus in the Space Age" is the theme of the daily vacation Bible school this year. Mrs. Peterson, director, Dr. Albert Carter, superintendent of the Sunday school, stress the responsibility which parents have for seeing that their children are strengthened for the stresses and strains of our present world by an early and thorough grounding in Christian principles.

Heads of the several departments, which will teach children from kindergarten through the eighth grade ages will include Jerald H. Traeger, Mrs. Hubert Cline, Mrs. William Dyer and Mrs. Frank Cox.

All children from kindergarten through eighth grade are eligible. They may enroll at tomorrow's morning or evening church services or on Monday.

Inquiries may be made at the church office after 12 noon.

Mysterious Mountain In Our Own Backyard

TIP-TOP OF TAM—Marin County Fire Department lookout is manned during fire season. It is a steep quarter-mile climb above summit parking lot, from which this picture was taken.

For all its eminence, there is a lot of mystery around Marin's Number One landmark. Not that the facts and facilities are shrouded in secrecy, but it is simply that we tend to take for granted what is in our own backyard.

Take the limits of Mt. Tamalpais State Park, for instance. The park and the mountain are anything but analogous. Its present 1,341.96 acres occupy the southern flank of Tamalpais, but if you drive up to the summit past Pan Toll ranger station, you are seeing Marin Municipal Water District scenery from park-owned right-of-way. The park includes the picnic facilities and parking lot at the top, but the Marin County Fire Department scans the county from its fire lookout tour atop one peak, while the 777th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron (Air Force) scans the skies with radar eyes from the adjacent peak.

About half of the southern edge of the state park is bordered by Muir Woods National Monument (485.18 acres), which it is destined to out-flank in the near future. The state has under various stages of authorization additions to the park which will more than double its size. These include a 236.45 acre strip stretching toward Highway 1 just south of Stinson Beach (William Kent estate) and a 111.2-acre patch along the shore which will connect with Stinson Beach State Park properties. The $100,000 for this acquisition was authorized in 1956 and it is currently being surveyed.

The big addition proposed includes 1,444.27 acres now part of the Brazil and Diaz ranches (including Franks Valley). The exact amount or areas to be purchased is still under negotiation, but funds have been appropriated.

These additions are more than just "elbow room" against residential encroachment. Park Supervisor George E. Holmboe says that the Franks Valley portion of the Dias ranch is "highly suitable for development as park and picnic grounds." Steep Ravine is envisioned for trailer sites.

Holmboe's staff includes assistant supervisor Robert Hewitt, and rangers Lewis G. Rogers, Willard G. (Buck) Hanselman and Arthur Legier. A sixth man is expected to be added.

Speaking of "elbow room," the park's present acreage includes a strip along the one-time Kent private highway from Pan Toll Station to Bolinas. Pan Toll got its name from the days when those using the private road paid toll.

Another relic of early Marin days is West Point Inn, which was a stopover point for weekenders. City folk were advised that they could take the Mt. Tamalpais and Muir Woods Railway to West Point, spend the night in an excellent inn, breakfast and then hike to the summit for sunrise and return home—all for less than it would cost for a weekend in the city.

The inn proper is located on what is now MMWD property. The building has become so decrepit that the water district proposed to burn it down. That was 16 years ago. A group of outdoor-minded people banded together into the West Point Club and persuaded the MMWD to preserve the building. The club was given a lease for $5 a year on the proviso that they keep it up and maintain it.

Today its garden is well kept and the building immaculate and in repair, thanks to caretaker George Kindred. On weekends the place buzzes from Saturday morning on as some 40 of the club's 185 members hike in from the bus stop up on Panoramic Highway. Very few of them drive in, although the dirt road leading off the summit drive is in good condition.

For these club members, like generations before them, are devoted to hiking. Mt. Tamalpais is interlaced with trails. Within state park limits alone are 35 miles of trails along eight routes ranging from "very easy" to "a good hike." These link with other trails, including those of Muir Woods and ultimately the coastwise trail to the coast and to northern counties.

Outdoorsmen have championed the park and the Kent family has traditionally and GAL TWO ...Mysterious Mt. actively helped movements to expand Marin's recreation facilities. The new additions to the park are the results of persistent plugging by the Marin Conservation League, notably Mrs. B. K. Dunshee and Mrs. Norman B. Livermore; the Tamalpais Conservation Club, the Sierra Club, and the Garden Society of Marin.

Their members have come time and again to meetings of the State Board of Parks and Beaches, armed with facts as well as dreams.

For instance, Mt. Tamalpais State Park annually provides recreation for some 350,000 persons. These are persons who use the facilities—hiking, picnicking or camping overnight — not just those who drive along the roads and admire the scenery.

Oh, didn't you know about the campgrounds? There are overnight facilities for about 100 at Alice Eastwood Camp and the nearby group camp, both located just below Mountain Home. The group camp can accommodate individuals or large parties, either for picnics or overnight.

Around Bootjack (up Panoramic Highway beyond Mountain Home) and at Pan Toll are combination facilities, including comfort stations and barbecue pits. At the summit, picnickers find tables but fires of any kind are forbidden.

No charge is made for using any of these facilities, only for firewood. Campers may bring their own, but harvesting same on park property is forbidden.

Many see the park for the first time on the occasion of the annual Mountain Play, held on the third Sunday in May. As many mountain playgoers have discovered, the weather "down below" does not necessarily match that on the mountain. It may seem improbable, but you may very well pass Pan Toll with windshield wipers awash to burst out into glorious sunshine a few feet further. The mountain is less windy than many parts of Marin.

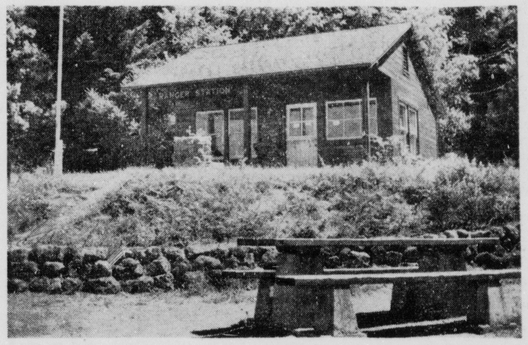

High point, literally and figuratively, is the summit fire lookout, (a steep quarter mile) but, as Park supervisor Holmboe points out, the views from the 20 minute easy trail (it is easy, too) offer even finer vistas. Within a few steps of each other are breathtaking panoramas of the ocean, Lake Lagunitas, Ross Valley, Corte Madera, Mill Valley.

The best trail is said to be the one leading along the old railroad right-of-way to West Point Inn, from which, on a clear day, you can see the Farallones.

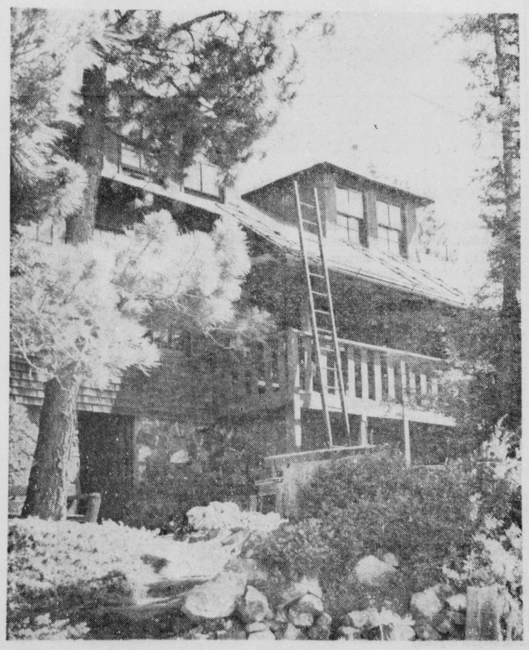

Both park officials and the MMWD are extremely aware of fire hazards, and there have been no fires there for a couple of years. From the summit you may look down in wonder at a spanking new building not far from Mountain Home. That is the new MMWD fire station. No one is taking chances.

FAMILY CAMPS — Many Marinites are unaware of the camping facilities on Mt. Tam. In addition, Alice Eastwood Camp, below Mountain Home, has group camping facilities suitable for about 100 persons. (Independent-Journal Photos by Bob Hax)

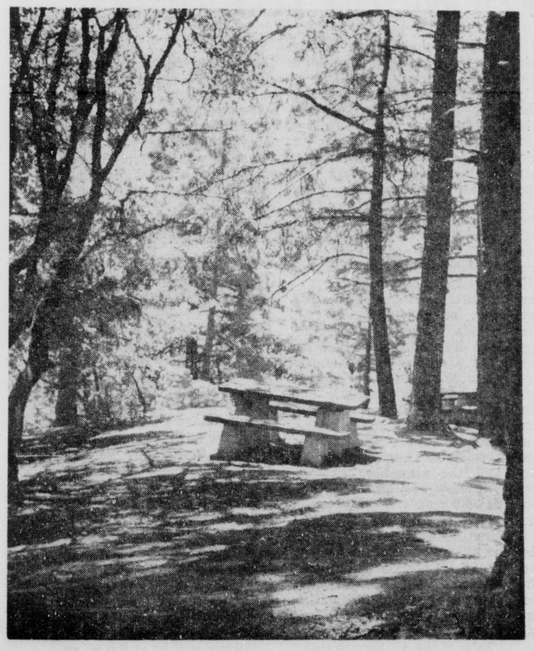

PAN TOLL—Headquarters for state park rangers is station named for historic toll gate. Station is located at intersection of roads leading to Bolinas, Mill Valley and summit. Lagunitas Road branches off summit road above ranger station.

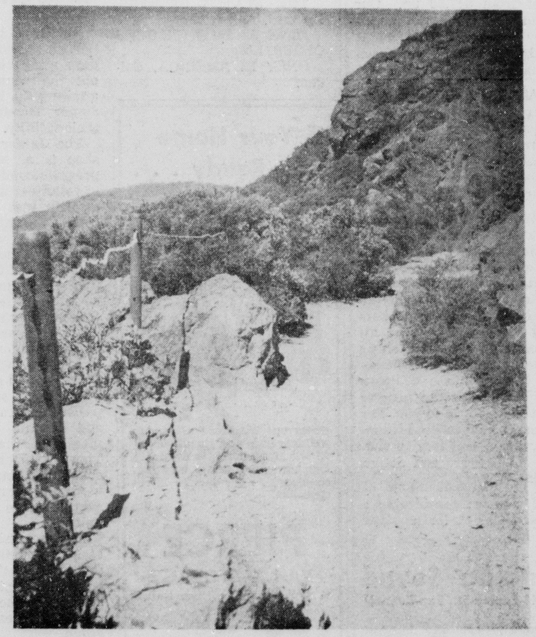

HISTORIC INN—In the days when the railroad ran up to Mt. Tamalpais, West Point Inn was famous stop-over. It is now being maintained by West Point Club, a hiking group.

HIKER'S PARADISE—Slopes of Mt. Tamalpais are criss-crossed with hiking trails, well-marked and well posted. Many lead to Muir Woods or join country-wide trail system.

PICNIC AREA—Family-sized picnic areas abound on Mt. Tamalpais. They are located at Alice Eastwood, Bootjack, Pan Toll ranger station and at mountain summit. Barbecues at all except latter.

SUMMIT TRAIL—After the initial stair-step climb, 20-minute summit trail is easy walk. In distance is Aircraft Control and Warning Station which occupies Mt. Tam's second summit.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

How does one go about converting his present radio console to Hi-Fi Stereo sound? If the radio console in your home has a beautiful cabinet that blends in with your other home furnishings, and if basically it has a pleasing sound, you can convert in gradual steps to custom type units.

Usually, the radio console sound can be improved quite markedly by having a high quality record changer such as the Garrard RC88 installed in place of the present changer. At the same time, a new pickup cartridge with a diamond needle should be installed. Preferably this cartridge should be stereophonic, and should have a diamond needle. By having a stereophonic cartridge, you will be able to play all of your monaural LP records, all of your 45 rpm records, and the stereophonic records. This means that even though you do not have a complete stereo system, you can build your library of stereo records by making all of your future record purchases stereophonic. A stereo record played with a stereo cartridge on a conventional system will be reproduced with the same quality as a good standard LP record. IF YOU DO NOT HAVE A STEREO PICKUP CARTRIDGE IN YOUR PHONO SYSTEM, DO NOT ATTEMPT TO PLAY STEREO RECORDS. THE MONAURAL PICK-UP CARTRIDGE WILL DAMAGE THE GROOVES OF THE STEREO RECORD. Custom quality record changers cost from $42.50 up, and stereo cartridges with diamond needles cost from $17.50 up. Our firm can make the necessary changer replacement and wiring changes at a reasonable cost.

A typical customer reaction after we have completed one of the above changer conversions is, "We hear music coming from our own records that we have never heard before."

Another step which will greatly improve the sound of an existing radio console is to add a separate custom speaker system. In our sound room, we have many types of high quality loudspeakers and systems. They are all connected to a switching panel so that you, the listener, by immediate comparison can choose the speaker that sounds best to you. For an experience in good listening, please feel free to visit our Hi-Fi Store and Sound Room.

If you are considering a patio speaker, let us show you how.

POISON-OAK (Rhus diversiloba)—Poison-oak is more widely spread in California up to 5000 ft. in elevation than any other shrub. Unfortunately it secretes an oil which is highly poisonous as a skin irritant if contacted directly or on clothing or objects which have touched it or in smoke from its burning. Some people are immune, but most have to keep a sharp lookout. It is an erect or spreading shrub 2 to 8 ft. high, or a woody vine which climbs trees. The 3 to 6 in. long leaves are made up of three leaflets which color a bright red in the fall. The flower clusters are greenish white, the ¼-inch berry-like fruit is brown or whitish. 'Good Duo-Pianists Are Born,' Not Made, Says Famous Pair

Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemenoff, famous duo-piano team, don't believe it is absolutely essential for duo-pianists to be married. But they feel it is inevitable if the pianists are as much en rapport as they are.

That it may be a distinct advantage is indicated by their record-shattering 20-year career together. They appear at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael—first of this season's Marin Music Chest offerings.

Luboshutz and Nemenoff, as they are billed professionally, are certainly qualified to talk about music and marriage.

While they do not go mystical on the subject, the Luboshutzes believe that a duo-piano team must be attuned to each other.

"Good duo-pianists are born, not made. Two virtuoso pianists won't necessarily make a good duo-piano team, for duo-piano playing is too intimate a form of art ,and depends greatly upon close communion, deep mutual understanding and respect, and a careful complementing of one another's special gifts," Luboshutz says.

Therein lies the secret of the extraordinary performances together over which critics as well as audiences have exhausted superlatives. These great artists are not strangers to Marin audiences, as they have appeared numerous times on Marin Music Chest summer concert series by popular demand.

ON THE PROGRAM for tomorrow afternoon is Mozart's Sonata in D. Major (K 488); Schumann's Andante and Variations, Opus 46; Milhaud's Scaramouche and Rachmaninoff's Suite No. 2. Gates of Forest Meadows open at 1:30 p.m. There are no reserved seats. Admission for non-subscribers to the series is $2.50 per person.

On July 19, Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, internationally famous soprano, makes her first appearance under Music Chest auspices; Aug. 2 brings Michael Rabin, American violinist to Marin for the first time. On Sunday evening, Aug. 30, the now internationally famous San Francisco Ballet, accompanied by members of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra under the baton of Earl Murray, once again will close the Music Chest Season.

DUO—Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemenoff are partners not only on concert stage but in marriage. They appear tomorrow on the Marin Music Chest concert in Forest Meadows in San Rafael.

Real World Of Make-Believe Opening For Marin Youngsters

By BARBARA FARMER

With the end of school only days away children throughout the county are eagerly awaiting the beginning of the Junior Theatre workshop in their vicinity.

The Junior Theatre workshop is a summer activity program conducted by groups of volunteer workers, not necessarily just mothers of the children participating, which provides an opportunity for the grade school child to learn all aspects of theatre. In addition to actually acting on stage, other fields offered are dancing, scenery painting, the making of props, costuming, lighting and make-up. Very important backstage mechanics are sound effects, prompting, stage setting, curtain pulling and calling the actors and dancers to be in their places at the proper time. Those registering must have completed kindergarten.

Absolutely no charge whatever is made by any of the units.

The workshop varies in each community according to the desire of the unit. Whether formal acting or creative dramatics, the choice is decided by each individual group.

SLEEPY HOLLOW has already registered children through the schools in that area. A six-week program of creative dramatics will be offered at the Sleepy Hollow School on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, beginning June 22. Margo Adams, well known instructor in in this field, will work with children in the first and second grade age level on Tuesday afternoons from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

The results of this work will be demonstrated on Saturday, July 25, at 2 p.m.

Director Audrey Eichelberger, of the national Children's Theatre Conference, will divide the older children into groups of approximately twenty-five each. Each group will meet twice weekly and will create their own plays, one of these to be in-the-round. Two plays will be performed on Thursday, July 23, and the remaining two on Thursday, July 30. All will be at 7:30 p.m.

REGISTRATION for Ross-Kentfield-Greenbrae will start at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, July 7, in the Art and Garden Center. Marion Hayes Cain, an advocate of creative dramatics, will help the children to create their own version of "Tales of the Arabian Nights." They will stage their production on Saturday, Aug. 15, and Sunday, Aug. 16. Classes will be conducted on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. in props, crafts, woodwork, make-up and stories and games. An innovation this year will be instruction in creative writing for children from fourth through eighth grades and rhythmic activities led by Lynn Harriman. The latter will include tumbling for those boys interested.

CHILDREN IN the Fairfax-Manor area will register on Monday, July 27, at Deer Park School. Sessions will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 12 noon. Two plays will be presented this year — "The Little Hero of Holland" and "The Stolen Prince." The former will have a Dutch setting, while the latter is an amusing Chinese fantasy by veteran Marin playwrite-director Dan Totheroh.

Barbara Farmer, who has been with the unit since its start seven years ago, will direct both plays. Preceding each performance a ballet, choreographed by David Belrose of the Belrose Dance Studio, will carry out the theme of each story.

Curtain will be at 8 p.m. on the evenings of Friday, Aug. 21, and Saturday, Aug. 22.

TENDER MOMENT—Neill Whitman (right) gives reassuring squeeze to hand of Elaine Mitchell in Sausalito Little Theatere's summer melodrama "The Drunkard." This picture was taken by Carrol Stoerker of San Rafael, member of College of Marin photography class. Teacher Ken Molino took students on field trip to dress rehearsal, where they worked with stage lighting.

SUBCONSCIOUS?

Neill Whitman Did His First Melodrama At Age 9 Or 10

Melodramas hold a special fascination for Neill Whitman Jr. of Kentfield.

"I can remember putting on one of these melodramas when I was a kid. I don't imagine I was more than 9 or 10 years old. I put on the whole show myself." (Fairfax neighbors of that time might remember.)

Whitman has been acting off and on ever since, but always in comedies.

"I've always liked to get up in front of people and make them laugh. I've never done anything serious."

That wasn't quite the way he planned it. While he was studying at San Francisco State College, he tried out for the lead in "Hasty Heart."

"And I didn't get the part. I was crushed."

His capacity for comedy entangled him in "Three Men on a Horse" while he was at College of Marin and eight or nine plays at College of Pacific. He had a short part with the now-extinct S.F. Repertory company in "Three Blind Mice."

"I think there's an advantage to having a small part. If you don't have a lot of lines, you have time to go in deeper."

His current role as reformed drunkard in "The Drunkard" is the first really long part for him.

"It comes closer to being a straight part."

Wherein is a dilemma.

"This guy has a problem and it can be played either way. It is necessary to keep twisting and doing things that are a little bit ridiculous.

"Back in 1837 when this thing was written, this was strong medicine. There were women who fainted away watching it."

This is Whitman's third summer with Sausalito melodrama. Emil Waldteufel lured him down to try out for "Under the Gaslight." Last year he played a semi-villain in "Streets of New York."

"For some reason this form of drama particularly appeals to me. Whatever it is, I'm quite sure it is subconscious."

Outside of amateur productions, Whitman has never aimed at serious acting (although he confesses to a hankering to do a straight, serious role sometime). A native of Fairfax, he was away during the war years and while studying speech and English in college. Now in his seventh year of teaching for the San Jose School District, he is also part-time counselor at Sunny Hills.

Whitman lives with his wife Evelyn and two children at 123 Terrace avenue, Kentfield.

Except on Friday and Saturday nights, when he is down at 749½ Bridgeway in Sausalito, where the curtain goes up at 8:30 p.m., and where you can buy villain-taunting peanuts as well as $1 tickets at the door. And where, if you haven't made reservations, you may not be able to get a seat.

Palette Notes on Flowers From a Creative Gardener

"Whole books are written on color in the garden. Obviously this I can do no more than make a few suggestions. Further, color is so much a matter of taste that it would be unwise to be dogmatic about it.

The inexperienced gardener will be relieved to learn that, after all, it is not a matter as vital as it might seem. A garden planned without a single thought to color is beautiful. Nature sees to that.

But, as a gardener becomes more familiar with flowers, he naturally grows to like some colors better than others. As his taste develops, he plans his garden accordingly. About all I shall venture here are the following suggestions of varieties that are most often used to produce different colors. Later I shall list a number of popular combinations.

WHITES: Snow Cloth Alyssum, Arabis, White Cap Aster, Gypsophlia, Snow-In-Summer, White Verbena, Purity Zinnia.

PINKS: Los Angeles Aster, Pinkie Bachelor's Button, Pink Queen Cleome, Pink Larkspur, Rose of Heaven Petunia, Sweet Briar Poppy, Miss Willmott Zinnia.

YELLOWS: Gold Dust Alyssum, Lemon Beauty Calendula, Sunburst Coreopsis, Golden Pygmy Marigold, Yellow Supreme Marigold, Golden Globe Nasturtium, Buttercup Snapdragon, Sunflower, Daffodil Zinnia, Creeping Zinnia, Star Dust Fantasy Zinnia.

ORANGES OR BROWNS: Calliopsis, Orange King Calendula, Gaillardia, Melody Marigold, Siberian Wallflower, Golden Dawn Zinnia, Valencia (Lilliput) Zinnia, Zinnigold.

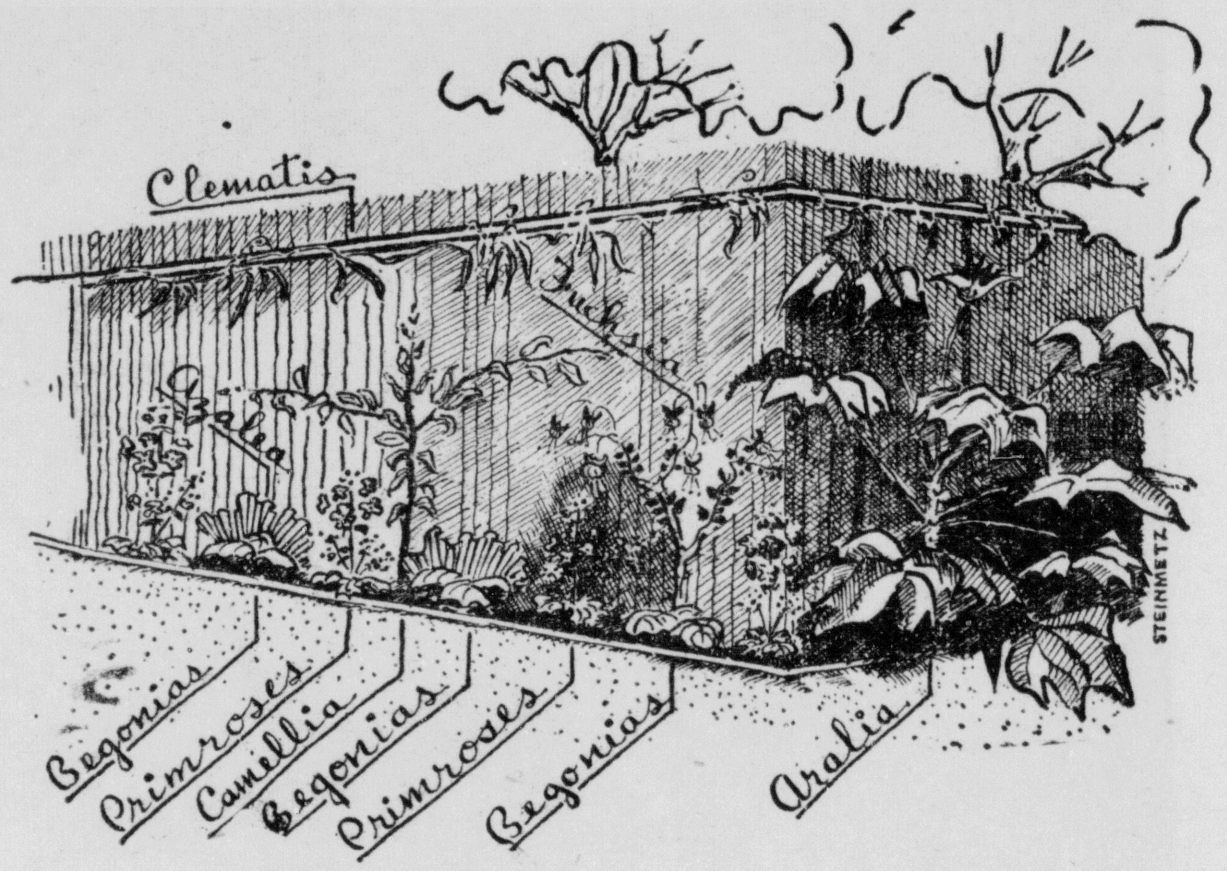

REDS: Red Boy Bachelor's Button, Shades of Red Cockscomb, Scarlet Flax, Scarlet Gleam Nasturtium, Fire Chief Petunia, General Dodds Petunia, Bonfire, Salvia, Little Red Riding Hood Zinnia, Will Rogers Zinnia.

BLUES: Ageratum, Blue Bird Anchusa, Navy Blue Aster, Blue Boy Bachelor's Button, Blue Bells of California, Delphinium, Flax (perennial), Forget-Me-Not, Sky Blue Larkspur, Crystal Palace Lobelia, Nemophila, Heavenly Blue Petunia, Blue Cockade Scabiosa.

Rose of Heaven Petunia bordered by Blue Cap Ageratum; Sky Blue Larkspur with Exquisite Pink Larkspur; Crackerjack Marigold bordered by Balcony Purple Petunia, Scarlet Defiance Verbena bordered by Snow Cloth Alyssum; Orange King Calendula bordered by Crystal Palace Lobelia; Bluebird Anchusa bordered by Golden Gleam Nasturtium; American Beauty Marigold bordered by Firmament Forget-Me-Nots.

Any of these combinations will present a compelling spectacle. E.K.M.

WHAT TO PLANT

Marin's Many Climates Call For Many Kinds Of Plants

By LOUISE TEATHER

A flower bed with all-year color doesn't take as much work as you might think. It does take some planning—but it's well worth it.

Katy Steinmetz of the firm of Katy and Paul Steinmetz, landscape architects, has a bed with all-year color just outside the front door of their San Rafael home. Family and friends all enjoy watching the blooms change as the seasons do.

For variety and interest as well as color, Mrs. Steinmetz combines perennials, permanent shrubs, bulbs, annuals, and vines. The bed faces northeast, getting morning sun, and its color scheme is pink and white.

Here's the way the color changes:

Late winter and spring: pink camellias and azaleas.

April: Evergreen clematis Armandi (vine with white blossoms), white primroses, which bloom into June. Plant tuberous begonias.

June to October: Tuberous begonias and permanent fuchsias (white, pink, and "fuchsia").

Winter: Cyclamen (white) and pink perennial bulbs. Plant primroses.

This combination is fine for San Rafael and Ross Valley. Here are some ideas for other sections of Marin County, with the same exposure.

Southern Marin: Sausalito, Mill Valley, Belvedere - Tiburon, to the Corte Madera ridge. Colors: pink and white with a touch of blue.

Late winter and spring: pink camellias and azaleas. Vine: Hardenbergea Comptoniania.

April: Substitute Cinerarias for primroses. Astilbe, a perennial with a feathery flower, combines nicely with cinerarias. Plant tuberous begonias.

June to October: The Bletilla orchid, a bulb, would be an original touch. Flowers are white or blue.

Winter: Cyclamen, perennial bulbs. Plant cinerarias.

Northern Areas:

Late winter and spring: Camellias and azaleas. Plant annuals.

April: Vine on fence: deciduous Clematis (won't freeze, grows fast; flowers white or blue). Annuals: primroses, pansies or violas. Lily of valley bulbs do well and are charming additions to bed in spring.

June to October: Because of heat, fuchsias and tuberous begonias need a great deal more care in northern areas. Fox gloves or canterbury bells (Campanula) do well as tall perennials. Columbine, also a perennial, or Sweet William would give low color. For a late fall perennial, try Japanese Anemone. Plant winter annual in September.

Big Can Of Color (Not Paint) Brightens This Corner Or That

Color in containers sounds nice, but it's not always easy to come by. Most of our container-grown plants are shrubs with relatively short periods of bloom. They look nice all year, but their primary color is green.

Now comes the California Association of Nurserymen with the suggestion that if you want more color in containers, try planting annuals. Yes, annuals. Not only do container - grown annuals brighten corners of a deck or patio, but they act as sort of a rear guard, to be moved to the front whenever a bed of color has faded or failed to fill in properly.

Some members of the CAN claim to handle the bulk of their garden color this way. Annuals are grown in gallon containers in some out of the way corner and moved to the front as they come in bloom. In addition to the continuous color this provides, they point out that weeding the container bed is just as easy as pie.

THERE'S NO LIMIT to the variety of bedding plant annuals you can set out in containers. But the most effective replacements in big beds are the medium to tall growers, planted one to the gallon can and pinched when young to encourage bushiness. Stock, snapdragon, tall marigold, zinnia, even petunia are all candidates for a nursery can. In their season—which is a cooler season for best results—calendula and cineraria are also to be tried. Dwarf dahlia, while it isn't technically an annual, can be treated as one. It is excellent for spot color or for massing in containers.

The gardener should be cautioned that the method is no cure all. It would take a vast area of growing space to keep color coming on at every month of the year. Moreover, the color we do get from container-grown shrubs is not to be scorned. But for filling in, and for downright fun, the culture of annuals in containers is a garden trick you should learn.

Soaking Sloping Lawn

The sloping lawn is a despair of California gardeners, the problem being to get water to soak in instead of run off. Best bet on a slope is a canvas or plastic soaker which, when attached to the hose, oozes water slowly, permitting it to penetrate without wasting gallons down the gutter. Soakers are available a all member nurseries, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. Good ground preparation before planting seed on a slope is most essential.

If Daffodils Have You In Dilemma

Ripening foliage on daffodils is not a pretty sight, but it's a necessary one if you want the bulbs to produce efficiently again next year. You can get by the worst of it, however, by one of three methods. One, simply double the foliage and tie it in neat clumps. Two, dig the bulbs and bury them again in an out-of-the-way trench. Three, dig the bulbs and stack them in a shaded place to ripen off. This later method will only work well if the ripening process is started. You can try it in June without worry.

DU PONT Announces

Spreader-Sticker

A Garden Spray Additive To Reduce Waste!

The one big problem in the use of most garden sprays is the waste caused by the amount of chemical that runs off the plants onto the ground.

Although this is an age-old problem, Du Pont Research helped professional growers, orchardists, and nurserymen to solve it more than ten years ago with a unique chemical called Spreader-Sticker.

Spreader-Sticker is an additive; that is, you add it to any garden spray, regardless of brand — about 8 to 10 drops of Spreader-Sticker to a gallon of spray chemical.

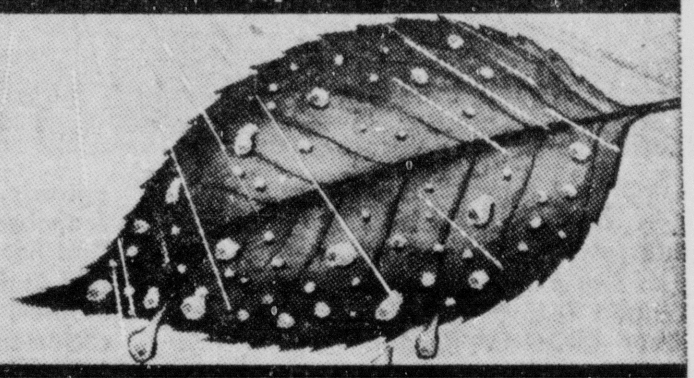

The change that takes place is hard to believe. Where formerly the spray would slide off the smooth, waxy leaves or simply bead up, it now, under the influence of Spreader-Sticker, spreads evenly as a protective film over the plant surface . . . and sticks there for a longer time, despite rain or additional watering.

Now Spreader-Sticker is available for the home gardener in easy-to-use one-ounce dropper cans. Small enough to carry in an old-fashioned watch pocket, the can nevertheless holds enough Spreader-Sticker for more than 25 gallons of chemical spray.

Spreader-Sticker can be used in any liquid insecticide, fungicide, weed killer, or soluble fertilizer.

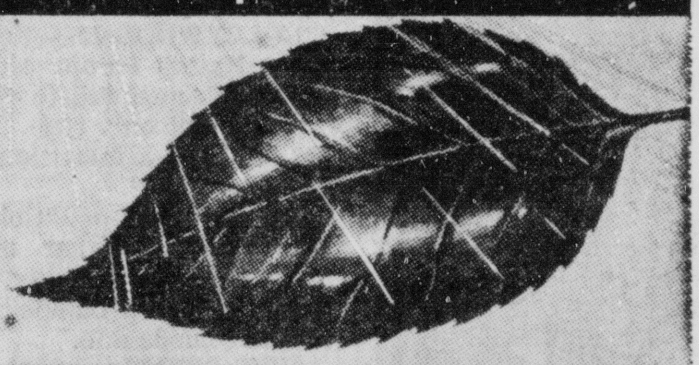

The advantages of using Spreader-Sticker in garden chemicals are suggested by this fact: only a few drops of inexpensive Spreader-Sticker make a whole gallon of any liquid garden spray more effective for a longer period of time.

WITHOUT Spreader-Sticker

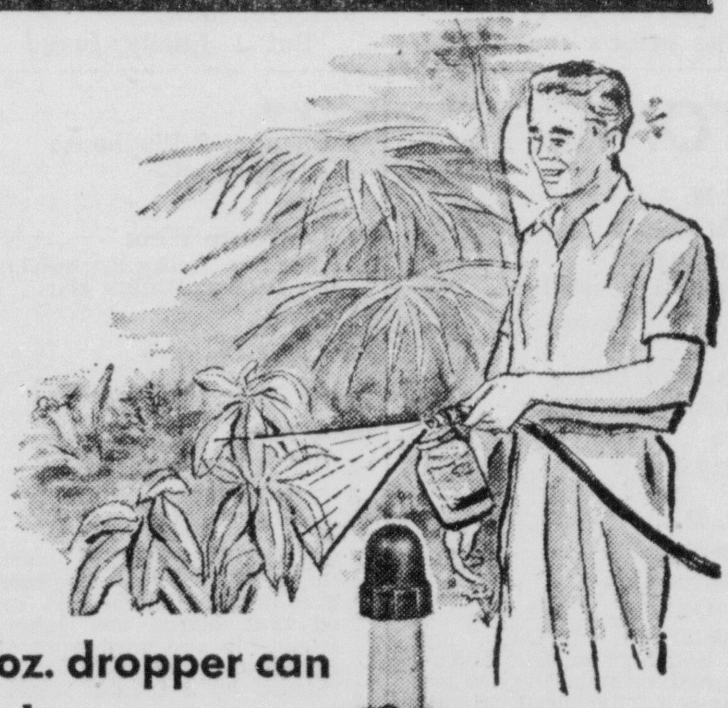

NOTE: BEADING AND QUICK RUN-OFF CAUSE YOU TO USE MORE CHEMICAL BUT GET LESS PLANT PROTECTION.

WITH Spreader-Sticker

YOU GET UNIFORM FILM OF PROTECTION WHICH STICKS TO PLANTS EVEN AFTER RAIN OR NORMAL WATERING.

BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING . . . THROUGH CHEMISTRY

DUAL ROLE — Ann Blyth stars in a dual role, as a disfigured mother and her daughter, when she makes her telefilm debut as star of "The Jenny Tannen Story" on "Wagon Train" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday over KRON-TV (Channel 4). In this episode, the wagon train reaches San Francisco, where Phoebe Tannen hopes to find her mother, Jenny, who had deserted her in infancy. Weekly TV Log

Also starring in the searching probe of New York society are Judith Anderson, John Lupton, Fay Wray and Jack Mullaney.

The pride's the thing

Betty Hutton Plans TV Series For Fall

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bouncy Betty Hutton climbs off her pogo stick next fall to play a subdued matronly type in her first fling at a television series.

As the star of "Goldie," Betty will lose her brash, noisy movie personality. Nor is this a "dumb blonde" role for the comedienne.

"I'VE SPENT the past four years searching for a worthwhile series," the blonde bombshell said. "I turned down hundreds of scripts. Nobody could come up with a different show.

"But I finally found the right one. Nothing like it has ever been seen. It's the cotton-pickin' end."

Betty briefly outlined the running story.

"IT'S ABOUT a Wall Street mancurist who make a date with a rich customer, but before they go out he dies of a heart attack. In his will 'Goldie' is made guardian of his three kids and 50 million bucks," she said.

"The children are real snobs and resent her moving in on their lives and the family fortune.

"THE KIDS have already been cast. Dennis Joel plays a 10-year-old boy, Gigi Perreau is the 20-year-old daughter and Richard Miles is the 18-year-old. Gigi and Richard are brother and sister in real life.

"Anyhow," Betty rushed on breathlessly, "they're spoiled brats and I try to make human beings out of them. We travel in high society and the two older ones fight me all the way. The little boy is on my side and gives me all kinds of tips on how to get along with society people."

THE SHOW DEBUTS Oct. 1 in the "December Bride" time slot.

Betty is undertaking the arduous series for her pride's sake.

"Mind you," she laughed, "I like the loot, but I can take care of my finances by playing Las Vegas once a year.

"Pride is the thing. I want to do something I can be proud of. Something that people will respect. This is a warm, human role that will have views crying one minute and laughing the next."
